Island Parks Timber May Be Saved

Examination of the status of timber at the northeastern end of Battle Lake, reportedly endangered by logging operations, is being made by officials of the forest branch, Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, said today.

Mr. Gray said he understood the timber outside Strathcona Park limit was privately held, but that much of it was not a commercial logging operation. The minister pointed out that preservation of the timber as part of Strathcona Park boiled down to a question of whether the Legislature was willing to vote the funds for its purchase.

The minister said negotiations on saving Cathedral Grove timber are still under way. The government has the assurance that before any logging is done there it will be notified and given an opportunity to make a deal,

Nazis 125 Miles From Moscow Enemy Claims Rostov on Don Threatened

History's Greatest Battle

Associated Press

A German military spokesman claimed in Berlin tonight the German army has pushed to within 125 miles of Moscow and has "thoroughly shaken" the outer defenses of the Soviet capital.

"Not detached raiding groups which forged far ahead, but a solid German front is within 125 miles of Moscow," the spokesman said.

The high command earlier had said Moscow's defenses had been breached in the new German offensive, and several Soviet armies encircled and threatened with destruction.

Nazi military dispatches claimed also the entire south wing of the Soviet army had been broken by a German drive which has engulfed Ossiipenko and Mariupol, on the Sea of Azov, and is threatening the Don River port of Rostov, gateway to the rich Caucasian oil fields.

German battle flags were claimed to be within 100 miles of Rostov after a 450-mile advance from the Prut River boundary, between Rumania and Russia, where the Nazi onslaught started 15 weeks ago.

A special communique from Hitler's headquarters tonight claimed this German thrust had already cut off the retreat of the Russian 9th army and many Soviet divisions trying to withdraw toward Rostov were facing annihilation.

Battle Rages Both Day and Night

The crisis in Russia's struggle on the central front, in the mightiest battle of the war, was admitted by Red Star, Soviet army newspaper, which said the Germans had driven salients into Red defence lines by hurling great masses of reserves into an all-out offensive.

Soviet dispatches, however, declared Russian counter-attacks had inflicted heavy losses on the Germans in at least two salients—in the battle-scarred zones of Vyazma, 125 miles west of Moscow, and Bryansk, 220 miles southwest of Moscow. Vyazma and Bryansk are 140 miles apart.

"The Fascist command has thrown into battle considerable forces of aviation, armored troops and infantry," Red Star reported. "The fierce battle is raging unceasingly day and night."

The paper said the Germans had launched the push "with the fury of a mad beast," and were "straining all efforts, regardless of losses."

The paper called on Marshal Timoshenko's army to stand its ground, despite bombing and tank attacks. It declared Russian artillery, mined tank traps and the Red Army's own huge tanks would blunt the Nazi thrust.

Russians Urge Action By British

With the Germans thus fully engaged on the Russian front, the Soviet press suggested the western front was ripe for action.

Red Fleet, Soviet navy newspaper, estimated the Germans had left only 25 or 30 weak divisions in France, with little artillery and few planes, and the magazine Bolshevik said "the British Empire now has the possibility of taking the initiative into its hands, dealing destructive blows against the common foe of mankind—the Hitler Fascists."

Red Army troops, cautioned against yielding a step, were declared to be fiercely resisting the enemy's mechanized columns in the Bryansk and Vyazma zones, where the invaders had been turned back before.

Red Star said the Germans were suffering "enormous losses" for every step gained in the twin drives toward Moscow. The paper added the German generals, fearing a winter campaign, hoped to decide the issue before winter begins, but said "their hope is in vain." Russian observers said the Germans appeared to have drawn forces from both flanks for the central push.

Gasoline Bombs Wreck 300 Tanks

Russian front-line dispatches said a single Russian infantry division had destroyed more than 300 German tanks with improvised grenades—explosive bottles of gasoline.

The war-battered city of Smolensk was under Russian attacks and the Tass news agency said Soviet airmen had bagged 10 German trains, 30 planes, 100 infantry-bearing vehicles and 24 tanks in that area.

Hitler's field headquarters asserted: "A breach on the central (Moscow) front begun October 2 has led to a new and vast series of battles of annihilation. In the Vyazma area alone, several Soviet armies are encircled and their destruction proceeding irrevocably."

The German newspaper Nachrichten claimed all Moscow rail connections with the Kharkov area of the Ukraine had been broken by German air attacks.

Germans Say Moscow Bombed

The German bulletin said both Moscow and Leningrad were attacked from the air Tuesday night and reported the Nazi air force had dealt destructive blows to railways and communications behind the Russian lines in forays extending along the entire front.

4,000 Killed On North Front

Russian military dispatches also reported that on the northern front 4,000 German and Finnish troops had been killed and many more captured in an 18-day battle along a river identified only as "L."

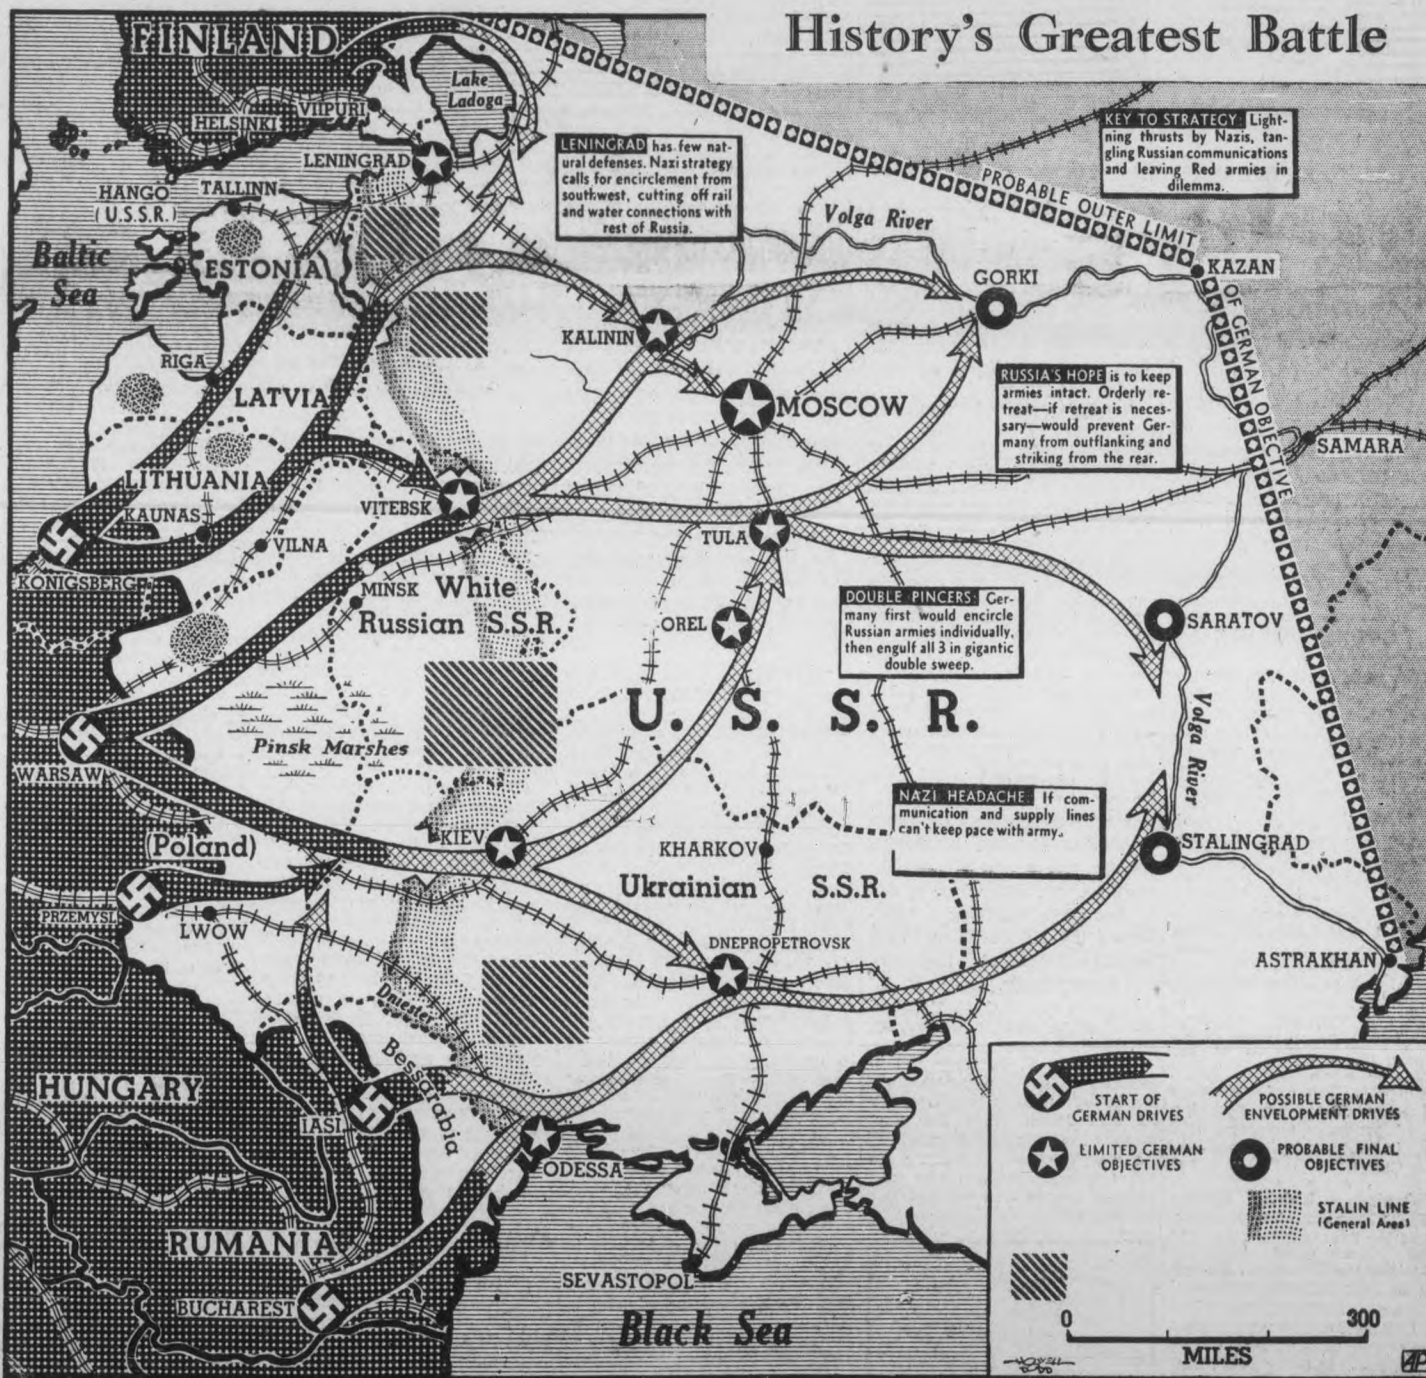

Red Star said: "The Fascist generals would like to decide the issue... before the beginning of winter. The hope is in vain. Hitler has prolonged the war, which will lead him to defeat.

"If the enemy has broken into the disposition of our troops there should be only one decision taken by the commanders, fighters and commissars—unless the higher command orders it—not to retreat a single step."

Vandalism Protested

SHANGHAI (AP)—Advices from Chungking today said the American Methodist mission at Yahungchiao, east of Peiping, had been entered by Japanese soldiers who destroyed property valued at $5,000, and that the United States embassy had protested.

Rebel Organization Recruits

Italians, Weary, Hungry Move Toward Revolt

Copyright 1941 Overseas News Agency Inc.

GENEVA—Waxing fat on the meat of disillusionment over the war, a revolutionary organization dedicated to the overthrow of Fascist rule was reported in reliable diplomatic channels today to have firmly established itself in Italy.

Primary objectives of the organization were listed by these sources as follows:

1. To bring about the termination of Italy's control by Berlin.
2. To secure a separate peace.
3. To set up, probably in London, a Free Italian government that would secure benevolent British support in rebuilding Italy on anti-Fascist foundations.

STAFF OBJECTIONS

This threatened revolution started, of course, in the Italian military command itself, where objections to the war have been piling up from its inception. First there was mild dissent at going to war at all. This increased to resentment at demands made by Berlin, followed by antagonism to the Nazi invasion of Italy with its consequent increased control, and then reached open dissension over the Russian war.

OPEN REVOLT

Open revolt was said to be close, stimulated by Italian casualties on the Russian front and the increasing Nazi demand for more and more Italian military aid in the Middle East.

With this military unrest there has gradually developed, from normal war weariness and disillusionment, a smouldering resentment at unnecessary suffering and restrictions demanded, not by Mussolini, but by Berlin.

Food, already scarce, has become scarcer because huge supplies of such essentials as meat, fat and grain have been commandeered by the Nazi masters and sent to Germany. Many raw materials, such as copper sulphate, vital in the cultivation of Italian vineyards, have also been seized by Italy's ally.

Queues begin to form in the cities at 4 a.m. to secure the small supplies which aren't equal even to the minor quantities allowed under the legal rations. The vain search for food goes on all day, and only those with sufficient money to make surreptitious use of the "black markets" can get reasonable nourishment.

NO MEAT

In many cities, such as Rome, Milan and Turin, many people, including those reasonably well off, have not seen meat for three months. Bread, now rationed, is exceedingly scarce and unpalatable, much of it being made from potatoes and the best of it from maize.

There is no leather for shoes and clothes are strictly rationed. Prices have soared to 20 times the prewar levels.

Bad as these things are, the Italians are said to be most resentful of the Gestapo invasion, bringing with it unnecessary restrictions and rule by threat and fear.

DUCE GUARDED

Mussolini is virtually a prisoner. His "bodyguard" is composed of members of the Gestapo who are jailers rather than guards.

The Italian people are said to be convinced Italy has already lost the war—to Berlin.

For these reasons, it is said, the people are now combining with the army. The one public hero is the Duke of Aosta—who, significantly, many people think, has been released temporarily from his role as a British prisoner of war.

Despite the fact that, according to reliable estimates, there are nearly 250,000 troops and Gestapo agents in Italy, the Italians believe it would be possible for Aosta, with the support of the army, to seize power.

Riots in Milan and Turin, recently reported officially, may be quelled on the surface by the Gestapo, but it is believed here their design is primarily to stimulate military and public opinion and to induce, at the proper moment, national action.

WOMEN'S WORK PLAN DEFENDED

LONDON (CP)—Replying to a complaint in the House of Commons that women are being called into war work too slowly, Labor Minister Ernest Bevin declared today "no country, not even Germany, has tried what is virtually compulsion of women as we have tried in this country."

He told the House Germany had been forced by a workers' "revolt" to abandon leveling wages and forced overtime, and added:

"They adopted the usual ruthless German methods and found themselves up against what is a very strong and almost universal force—working class psychology. 'I would be stupid... to ignore the possible repercussions of taking an unwise step.'"

The entry of women into industry as a result of the gradual speeding up has been growing week by week, Mr. Bevin said, "until now we are interviewing 40,000 to 50,000 a month."

Remembering that the mobilization of women would have broken down completely if he had used a "hard, official style," Mr. Bevin declared "not only have I got women into industry almost up to the numbers required, but I have carried the confidence of parents with me."

NEW SURVEY

The minister announced he is starting a complete new survey of the nation's labor resources. The survey will be based on the new employment cards which were issued to wage earners in August.

Megan Lloyd George, Liberal, proposed a "dual army" plan to release men from service after completion of military training so they could go back into industry.

MILLER LASH DIES IN TORONTO

TORONTO (CP)—Miller Lash, K.C., of Toronto, prominent Canadian lawyer and financier, died at his home here today in his 69th year.

A dozen or more South American companies were headed by Mr. Lash.

Besides being president of Brazilian Traction, Light and Power Company, he was a vice-president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Barcelona Traction, Light and Power Company, and chairman of the board of the Mexican Light and Power Company and the Mexican Tramways Company.

GERMANS MOVE TAKE PLOESTI

ISTANBUL (AP)—American travelers arriving in Turkey from Rumania said today the Germans had built a "doll house city of Ploesti" about 10 miles outside the real Ploesti, important oil refining centre, to mislead Russian bomber attempts to destroy the refineries.

The fake city, they said, was on a scale of one-third the area of the actual city and stood only about three feet high.

The travelers, some of whom lived in Ploesti for several years, claimed that from the air the whole thing is so deceptive that Ploesti itself has not been touched by any night raids and has been only slightly damaged by day.

(The Russian navy paper, Red Fleet, confirmed existence of this dummy town, but said the Russians never had been fooled.)

The fake town recently was moved from its first location when it appeared the Russians were beginning to catch on, the travelers said.

The same travelers said Grand Admiral Erich Raeder had taken a house in Bucharest as if he intended to make headquarters there for some time, and that considerable numbers of Nazi navy men were in the Black Sea port of Constanta.

There was much gossip in Bucharest to the effect that dismantled German submarines have been shipped down the Danube to Constanta.

Polio at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, B.C. (CP)—Dr. C. C. Brown, district health officer, today reported the fifth case of infantile paralysis to occur in the Nanaimo district in the last few weeks, that of a 14-year-old boy, who is confined to his home in the Five-Acre district.

The case was the fourth in the Five-Acre Nanaimo suburb, but the attack was believed light. There has been only one case of the disease in the city proper since the first was reported August 25.

ITALIAN CLAIMS

ROME (AP)—The Italian high command claimed today Italian infantry had repulsed British attempts to approach their positions on the Tobruk front in north Africa. Of military developments in east Africa, where several isolated Italian garrisons still are holding out, the high command said "there is nothing outstanding to report."

W. C. Mainwaring, director at large of the National War Savings Committee, who will speak at a War Savings dinner for Victoria employers at the Empress Hotel Thursday evening. Mr. Mainwaring started his work with War Savings at Vancouver and last year received an appointment at Ottawa on the national committee. The dinner is being arranged by the Victoria and Island Branch of the National War Savings Committee.

Scores Slain In Yugoslavia

BERLIN (AP)—DNB reported from Belgrade today that 32 persons had been executed "because they belonged to communistic bands" in Yugoslavia.

The executions were carried out at Jagodina and Cuprija, some 60 miles south of Belgrade, the agency said.

FOUGHT FOR WEEKS

BUDAPEST (AP)—A German punitive expedition after weeks of fighting has put down forest bands which had been pillaging villages in German-occupied parts of Serbia, Hungarian press dispatches from Belgrade reported today. Scores of the band members were executed.

The correspondent of one Budapest paper said German soldiers and military units of the local Serbian puppet administration had to fight from village to village "to free Serbia from the terrorists."

His dispatch said the commander of the expedition, "retaliating against all terrorist actions," sometimes executed as many as 60 men at a time.

Flame throwers were used to drive off one band at Javenika, which had been held by guerrillas for several days. There 15 alleged communists were said to have been shot.

The dispatch said 24 were killed when 100 government troops fought Serbs for several hours in one battle near Rovank.

A Belgrade newspaper said the countryside nearby now had been cleared of the bands and that a supply of food for the Serb capital was thus assured.

Many of those arrested as communists, the paper said, were sons of well-known Serb political leaders.

U.S. BILL DRAFTED FOR GUNS ON SHIPS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislative leaders reported today they had agreed that neutrality legislation to be introduced in the House tomorrow—following a message from President Roosevelt—would be confined to permitting United States merchant ships to be armed.

Those who attended a White House conference said it was agreed that such legislation could be sent through the House before the end of next week.

It was said reliably, however, that the President, Secretary of State Hull and Harry L. Hopkins, the lease-lend chief, still were hopeful that Congress eventually would also amend the existing law to lift the present prohibition against American ships traveling to belligerent ports or designated combat areas.

Hopkins, who had been reported taking the lead in an effort to have the law revised to permit the arming of ships and to allow them to travel anywhere, was said to have expressed disappointment at the decision reached at today's conference.

One of those who attended the meeting told reporters that if the legislation provided for arming ships went through the House by a substantial majority it was possible the Senate foreign relations committee would consider broadening the measure to eliminate the restrictions on ship movements.

W. Loree Dies

EDMONTON (CP)—William Loree, 62, former chairman of the Alberta debt adjustment board, died today following an illness of several months. He had been granted a year's leave of absence from the board as from September 1 because of ill health.

Turk Chromium For Germany After Next Year

By PRESTON GROVER

ANKARA (AP)—A German diplomatic offensive aimed at breaking the British-American hold on Turkey's chromium supply has resulted in virtual agreement on a deal whereby Germany will get at least half Turkey's exports of that vital war product after 1942, diplomatic sources said today.

In return, Germany has promised to begin immediate delivery of approximately $15,000,000 worth of military equipment to Turkey, these sources added.

Reports an agreement to this effect was about to be signed, perhaps today, produced a flurry of activity Tuesday on the part of British and United States diplomats.

Sir Hugh Knatchbull-Hugessen and J. V. A. MacMurray, British and American ambassadors, went to the Turkish foreign office, where they were said to have warned that such a move by Turkey would cause the worst possible reaction in London and Washington.

LEASE-LEND ACT

MacMurray was reported to have reminded the Turkish government that as one of the nations whose defence is necessary to the defence of the United States interests, Turkey could rely on American aid under the Lease-Lend Act.

Diplomatic sources saw one bright side to the picture—that Turkish chromium exports to Britain and America apparently would not be affected during 1941 and 1942.

The Turkish concessions were reported to have been wrung from the Ankara government in a series of conferences initiated during the last few days by Dr. Karl Clodius, German economic expert.

The Nazis, timing diplomatic pressure with a new military offensive against Russia, were reported to have confronted Turkey with a "take it or leave it" proposition. Observers agreed the Turks undoubtedly had been impressed by the gains the Germans have made in southern Russia, although the Turks themselves insisted they were not perturbed.

Turkey's chromium production in recent years has averaged between 150,000 and 200,000 tons—except in 1940, when it dropped to 110,000. The Germans were said to have demanded the greatest share of the output.

Road Proposals

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Highway conditions in western Canada were discussed in papers read at the annual convention of the Canadian Good Roads Association here today by officials of two western provinces.

The papers were those of Hon. C. S. Leary, British Columbia Minister of Works; Hon. A. T. Proctor, Saskatchewan Minister of Highways, and H. Ross McKenzie, Deputy Minister of Highways and Transportation for Saskatchewan. Mr. Leary's paper was read by J. M. Ardie, director of the Federal Department of Mines and Resources.

Russia Will Win, Roosevelt Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt has sent a letter to Premier Stalin of Russia declaring ways would be found to provide the "material and supplies necessary to fight Hitler on all fronts, including your own."

The letter, presented to Stalin by Averill Harriman, head of the American aid mission to Moscow, also expressed "great confidence" that the Russian armies would ultimately prevail over Hitler.

In announcing the text of the letter, the White House said a careful comparison of its language with a purported copy of the same letter published today in Berlin would show the "propaganda objectives" of the Nazi publication action.

People in the News

ARRESTED

GEORGE SYLVESTER VIERECK, admitted German propagandist, was arrested in New York by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation on an indictment returned in Washington charging him with withholding information in his State Department registration as agent of a foreign power.

Viereck, author and editor, listed in Who's Who as being born in Munich, Germany, emigrated to the United States in 1895 at the age of 11. His New York address is listed at 305 Riverside Drive.

Viereck, according to testimony in a Chicago lawsuit in 1922, predicted the sinking of the Lusitania four days before that passenger laden ship went down in the north Atlantic—an event many persons believe was the direct cause of the United States entering the first Great War.

Viereck is subject to a maximum penalty of five years in prison if convicted.

Call for Bonds

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council has passed a resolution asking for bonding and licensing by the provincial government of all "business opportunity" agents in Vancouver.

The resolution was passed at a council meeting after delegates had listened to the reading of a letter from the Better Business Bureau of Vancouver claiming that in the last two years the bureau had received numerous complaints of "business chance brokers."

Departing Canadian Newspapermen Blitzed

LONDON (CP)—Visiting Canadian newspaper representatives, who had not heard an air raid siren once during their fortnight's tour of Britain, were given a taste of their departure, an experience they described as a "rather thrilling culmination of our visit."

The southwest coast town where the party spent the night was raided by a single German aircraft which dropped three of the deadliest Nazi bombs, two of which struck their hotel, but the editors escaped.

D. B. Rogers of Regina and Bishop R. J. Renison of Toronto were in the hotel when the building was struck. Others were en route from the train which had carried them from London. They paused at the top of a hill and saw the bombs fall and explode with terrific blasts which wrecked part of the hotel and splintered windows over a wire area.

Mr. Rogers and Bishop Renison were standing at the reception desk of the big hotel when the bombs landed. There was a loud shattering blast. Mr. Rogers was knocked to the floor and Bishop Renison was thrown against the desk. A man standing behind him was blown over his head to the other side of the counter.

Mr. Rogers said the experience reminded him of the Halifax explosion of 1917 when he suffered slight concussion.

SLEPT ON FLOOR

The hotel rooms were not fit for guests, so the newspaper party spent the night sleeping either on mattresses on corridor floors or in chairs in the lobby.

They were surrounded by debris and heaps of dust. Part of the hotel had been blown away. Some ceilings collapsed and doorways and window frames were broken.

No fatal casualties resulted from the raid. There was only one stretcher case. Half a dozen other persons were injured by flying glass.

Writers of Leningrad Fight for Their City

By ILYA EHRENBURG
Famous Russian Novelist

MOSCOW (ONA)—I had a talk today with Anna Achmatova, the noted Russian poetess, who arrived in Moscow from Leningrad.

Achmatova told me of the heroic defence of Leningrad. "Everyone is at his station," she said. "The sailors are fighting wonderfully both on land and on sea."

"The Germans are thundering at the city, taking its palaces as among the targets, dropping explosive bombs, trying to machine gun the inhabitants."

"But now our aircraft is stronger than the German. Air battles go on over the city continuously. Artillery roars unceasingly."

She reported that all of Leningrad's writers were at the front. At a mass meeting of the Leningrad civilians and Red Army men, she was one of the speakers. "I told them," she said, "that the city of Peter, the city of Lenin, the city of Pushkin, of Gogol, of Dostoyevsky and of Block, cannot be surrendered." Although the Germans declared that since last Friday they were engaged in the "decisive attack" on Leningrad, I can report that in these five days they not only have not advanced, but at several points have been thrown back.

Here are some incidents of the fighting which I have learned from sources at the front.

Fliers in a unit under command of Commander Danilov destroyed 20 Messerschmitts at a German airfield.

Three outskirt villages were taken from the Germans by a unit in command of Colonel Konkov, inflicting 200 casualties and destroying six tanks.

The German 56th Regiment of the 291 Infantry Division attempted to seize one of two heights outside the city and were repulsed.

New Russian units joining the defence each day gnaw into enemy positions. In one village near Leningrad a German regiment was cut off from the rest of the army.

R.A.F. Razes Whole Blocks In Hamburg

By ALLAN NICKLESON
NEW YORK (CP)—The middle-aged German refugee placed his beer glass on the bar and leaned toward his questioner:

"I tell you I saw whole blocks of the dock area in Hamburg roped off to prevent citizens from seeing the tremendous damage done by the R.A.F. I've talked with people who've told me of transportation tie-ups and work stoppages in factories due to air bombings. It's getting worse all the time and I'm glad to see them get it."

The refugee hinted of a dramatic escape from Germany and he wouldn't give his name. His story is typical of those learned from refugees, diplomats and United States citizens arriving from Europe by ship and plane and from "grapevine" reports, letters and news dispatches reaching New York.

Some arriving refugees add a grim note of humor to the stories. Eighty-seven-year-old Louis Katz, a former New York clothes cutter, returned recently after 27 years in Germany. He said he had wanted to get a good night's sleep, which was impossible in Berlin because the R.A.F. blasted the city too often. He originally had retired to Germany to spend his old age in peace and quiet.

All agree that R.A.F. bombs, the "V for Victory" campaign and Russia's determined stand have been factors in creating the spirit of revolt in the occupied countries.

The "grapevine" tells of British pilots shot down over France who are hidden by French residents at the risk of their lives, then delivered to British raiding parties who cross the Channel in fast speedboats at night.

Cardinal Lauri Dead

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Lorenz Cardinal Lauri died Tuesday. He was 76 years old, having been born in Rome.

Death came in a Rome hospital where the Cardinal recently underwent an operation.

Pope Pius XII, who named him Camerlengo on December 11, 1939, sent a special benediction to the Cardinal. The last sacrament was administered.

Duce Harrangues As Morale Weakens

ROME (AP)—Mussolini returned today from the central Italian cities of Bologna, Imola and Faenza, where he told crowds to hold fast.

"We will hold fast in Emilia (the division of Italy in which the three cities are located) and in every other region of Italy," he told factory workers at Imola, "and when the enemy is convinced there is nothing doing with us, that will be a day of victory for Italy."

Fascists said Mussolini's appearance in the three industrial cities was intended to show the world, and particularly the United States, through great demonstrations of popular affection for Mussolini that Italian morale is high and the people are not letting hunger or the war get the better of them.

At Bologna Mussolini visited wounded Italian soldiers in a hospital.

"Fascist Italy always will surround you with a profound love," he told them.

Small Raids

LONDON (CP)—The Royal Air Force was held to its bases Tuesday night for the third night in succession because of adverse weather conditions over continental areas.

German planes in small-scale activity flew over southwest England and South Wales.

"Bombs were dropped at several points," a communique said. "Some damage was caused and there was a small number of casualties, some of which were fatal."

Dies Overseas

Sgt. Richmond Douglas Starkie Bence, R.A.F., was killed during air operations on September 3, according to word received by relatives at Chelmsford. He was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. B. Starkie Bence (Ross), of Kentwell Hall, Long Melford, Suffolk, and grandson of R. B. Halhed, Chelmsford.

Sgt. Starkie Bence resided with his parents until just before the war, when they left to make their home in England. He was educated at Chelmsford, Shawinigan Lake School and Vancouver Technical School.

Enlisting in the Royal Air Force at the outbreak of war, Sgt. Starkie Bence was attached to the coastal patrol.

Aimee Crocker Spent $9,000,000 in Lifetime

NEW YORK (AP)—Aimee Crocker, who used an inherited $10,000,000 to catapult her into the limelight of two continents with her gay activities, left more than a tenth of it when she died last February 7 at her home here at the age of 78.

An estate tax appraisal just filed shows her only daughter, Mrs. Gladys Crocker Ashe of New York, received $200,000 outright, jewelry and a life estate in one-half the residue, out of her mother's total estate of $1,106,585 gross and $1,051,449 net.

The millions left Aimee Crocker by her father, Judge Edwin Bryant Crocker of Sacramento, Calif., launched her on a career that included five marriages and four divorces.

Her last husband was Prince Alexander Galatzine. They were divorced in Paris in 1927.

More Needed, Says Halifax

NEW YORK (CP)—Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State, declared Tuesday night the period following the war will be fully as critical for the United States as is the present crisis.

In a broadcast speech before the 28th National Foreign Trade convention he noted, however, that "for the people of this country the supreme objective of the present before which every other consideration must give place is the final and complete defeat of Hitlerism."

Welles shared speaking honors at the meeting with Viscount Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, and read to the delegates a message from President Roosevelt which, like the remarks of Welles and Lord Halifax, emphasized the problems of rebuilding and reconstruction after the war.

"The very difficulties created by war conditions for an orderly functioning of the trade process furnish striking evidence of the significance of international commerce for the economic life of nations," said Mr. Roosevelt's message.

Lord Halifax told the delegates: "More—that is the keynote of the present conflict. More ships, more airplanes, more guns and more tanks."

"And more food to sustain the warriors and workers alike," he went on. "This is a total war and nothing less than the total energies of our minds and bodies will be needed in its waging."

The ambassador read to the delegates a message from Prime Minister Churchill which said in part: "I know I speak for all my countrymen when I express the deepest gratitude for what the manufacturers and the business community of the United States have done and are doing for the cause to which we are devoted."

Egypt Facing Food Shortage

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt, the fertile land of the Nile, is beginning to feel the pinch of food shortage.

The situation is regarded here as not serious, but some restrictions have been found necessary and others probably will follow.

The country's normal exports to Europe have been halted by the war and the big British army here eats far more than Egypt ever imported.

Too, the wheat crop this year is below normal. As a result, some wheat will be imported and, starting tomorrow, all bread will contain 15 per cent rice flour by government decree.

Churchill Lunches With King and Queen

LONDON (CP)—The BBC reported Prime Minister Churchill had lunch with the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace Tuesday and that Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose also were present.

Others in audience were A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Sir Lauchlin Currie, former British ambassador to Brussels who recently arrived in Britain after having been in German custody since the invasion of Belgium in May, 1940.

Earlier Mrs. Churchill and the Duchess of Kent had visited Canadian soldiers and airmen at the Overseas Club.

Domei Urges German Peace With Russia

TOKYO (AP)—Domei, in a special article, today urged the Axis powers to terminate the war with Russia to conserve German resources in manpower and equipment for an all-out assault on Britain.

The news agency warned that if the war with Russia is extended over a long period the Axis powers may be faced with a dearth of materials because, it said, they are a union of "have nots."

Britain and America, on the other hand, the agency declared, may become stronger because they represent a union of "haves."

Like other Japanese organs, Domei expressed fear that if Germany should spend her strength in Russia, Japan would be left alone to face the hostility of Britain and perhaps the United States.

The agency said the German-Russian war was started to end any possible threat to the German rear, but said this purpose already had been attained because Russia has been crippled by the heavy losses inflicted on her.

If the war with Russia is concluded the Germans could turn on Suez and establish sea communications with the Far East, Domei added. Japan then would be able to remove "the evil hand of Britain from the Far East," it said.

Japs Resuming Anti-U.S. Tone

TOKYO (AP)—Tokyo newspapers, striking the same chord of critical comment against the United States, blamed Washington today for what they termed the strengthening and spread of encirclement of Japan and said the Pacific situation was deteriorating.

Nichi Nichi in a page-one editorial said:

"Japan earnestly aimed at removing the Pacific cancer by Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye's personal message to Roosevelt (delivered August 28). However, the Pacific situation is going from bad to worse and it cannot be said what will happen next."

It claimed "the United States evidently is aiming to include Russia in the A.B.C.D. (American-British-Chinese-Dutch) encirclement by sending oil and planes."

"This has irritated the Japanese... who now must expect any development and prepare for the consequences."

NEGOTIATIONS BUMPY

Nichi Nichi said it judged Japanese-American negotiations were not progressing smoothly and the newspaper Yomiuri said that if the talks collapsed "Japan is determined to carry out the high principles set forth by the tripartite alliance" of Rome, Berlin and Tokyo.

The newspaper Kokumin, also in a page-one editorial, said "it is impossible to maintain peace in the Pacific as long as the United States refuses to understand Japan's real intentions."

Japanese-American talks, it added, "must eventually rupture unless the United States abandons her selfish attitude."

This outbreak of critical editorials follows a lengthy period of reserved comment regarding the United States.

Showler Heads Trades Council

VANCOUVER (CP)—Birt Showler, vice-president of the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council for the past five years, today took over the position of president of the council.

He was elected at a meeting here Tuesday night to succeed E. A. Jamieson whose resignation was demanded last month after he had announced he would contest the Vancouver Centre riding as a Liberal candidate in the October 21 provincial election.

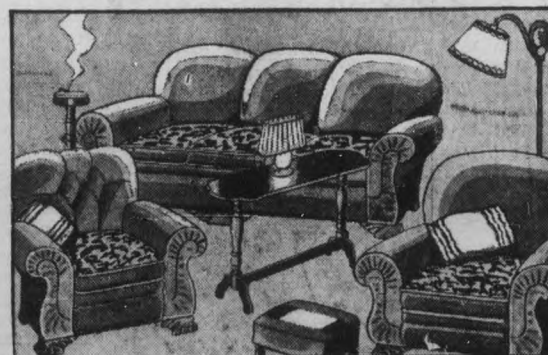

George Gerrard, chairman of the council's grievance committee, was elected to succeed Showler as vice-president.

Japan Raves Again

WHATEVER THE JAPANESE PROPAGANDA agency Domei has said in the past—and it has endeavored to impart the Goebbelsian touch to much of its writings—it prints a special article today which at least presents a realistic estimate of the international scene to the Japanese people. It begins with a naive injunction to the European Axis powers to terminate the war with Russia in order to conserve German resources in manpower and equipment for an all-out assault on Britain. Hitler's reaction to this instruction from the checkmated Oriental partner of the triple alliance would make interesting reading. Then comes Domei's warning: If the war with the Soviet Union is extended over a long period, the Axis powers may be faced with a dearth of materials, because they are a union of "have-nots." On the other hand, Britain and the United States, fears the agency, may become stronger, because they represent a union of "haves."

This curious exhortation to Germany, incidentally, coincides with an apparent all-out blast against the United States from the leading Japanese newspapers. (Nichi Nichi carries a front-page editorial which reaches the conclusion that our neighbor "evidently is aiming to include Russia in the ABCD—American-British-Chinese-Dutch—encirclement by sending oil and planes" to the Soviet Union. The newspaper Yomiuri joins the chorus with the intimation to the Japanese people that if the talks between Tokyo and Washington should collapse, "Japan is determined to carry out the high principles set forth by the tripartite alliance" of Rome-Berlin-Tokyo. Also on its front page, Kokumin argues that "it is impossible to maintain peace in the Pacific as long as the United States refuses to understand Japan's real intentions.")

Yes, we agree it must be annoying to the war lords in Tokyo as they realize that Mr. Roosevelt and his colleagues positively refuse to take orders from Japan, and all the more aggravating when the President of the United States persists in seeing through the game which the Oriental partner in the Axis would like to play in the Pacific. But charges of encirclement against the democracies would be humorous were it not for the general tragedy of the international situation. Japan knows, of course, that she has brought it all on herself. Her 51-month-old war with China promises her much less than it did in the summer of 1937; and now the men of Tokyo are at their wits' end to find a way of fighting the British Empire, the United States, the Soviet Union, and the Netherlands East Indies. Domei, however, is not fooled by the "high principles" involved in Nippon's adherence to the tripartite alliance.

Turkey and Chromium

TURKEY HAS AGREED TO SELL TO Germany half her chromium production after 1942. Sales to the Reich of this vitally-important war product cannot begin before that time because Great Britain and the United States have already contracted for the 1941 and 1942 output. In return for this promised supply, Germany has agreed to begin immediately the delivery of $15,000,000 worth of military equipment.

This commercial agreement is reported to have been wrung from the Turks in the face of German threats—diplomatic pressure coinciding with the new Nazi drive against the Russian centre. But the idea of Germany sending military equipment at once to Turkey in payment for goods that cannot be delivered until 1943 will strike most people as about the strangest business deal of these days; unless, of course, the Ankara government has become plastic under Nazi blandishments. There is nevertheless nothing apparent to suggest such a volte face.

Turkey naturally is in a difficult spot; but in nothing like such a strategically precarious position as she was before Iraq, Syria and Iran were brought within the Allied political and military orbit. Until developments occur to prove to the contrary, however, there would seem to be little danger that the Ankara government is doing anything beyond playing for time. Britain may yet take a hand in creating a new situation in both the Near and Middle East—long before the first shipment of German military equipment reaches Turkey.

What Does It Want?

OUR MORNING CONTEMPORARY HAS invented a hypothetical conversation which Mr. Pattullo recently had with the Premier of British Columbia. During this little heart-to-heart talk which the head of the administration was supposed to have had with himself in his office in the northwest wing of the Parliament Buildings he coined a slogan for the election campaign which will end on October 20. It is presumed to have suggested a united British Columbia behind a united Canadian war effort. Well, what is the matter with that? But the Colonist finds the slogan as "utterly irrelevant to the matter in hand as the flowers that bloom in the spring." The "tra-la" is not included. Still, it is the dictum which precedes this summary dismissal of the Premier's hypothetical musings which intrigues us—as it will assuredly puzzle the adherents of Mr. Maitland's political faith. Says the morning paper:

"The question of whether the Pattullo government should be returned to power or relinquish office has nothing whatever to do with the prosecution of the war."

All right; having said this much, what does the Colonist want? Does it subscribe to and demand the adoption of Mr. Maitland's slogan: "Streamline the Highways"? If it does, will it tell us just what this means? Will it give us an idea of the cost and say whether such a program could have anything to do with the prosecution of the war? Or does the Colonist hesitate to endorse this plank in the Conservative platform because, if it did, its stock charge of "spend-thrift zeal" against all governments not composed of Conservatives would collapse?

In any event, does the morning paper advocate the dismissal of the present administration, either for what it has done, left undone, or might have done? Does it, by any chance, want a government composed of Mr. Maitland and his followers—men untied and inexperienced in public office and certainly unfamiliar with the collaborative plan which has facilitated British Columbia's contribution to the nation's war effort? Does it want to dislocate the whole government mechanism and go in for experiments in the middle of the costliest war the world has ever known? If it does, let it say so.

The people of this province know, of course, that British Columbia's was the first provincial government to vacate the income tax field. Has this "nothing whatever to do with the prosecution of the war"? Federal Minister of Finance Ilsley evidently thinks it has. In an editorial last Saturday, the influential Financial Post, of Toronto, thought so, too.

But perhaps the Colonist is more interested in vague generalities and hypothetical conversations than in practical performance. It nevertheless should know its own mind—at least, in fairness to Mr. Maitland, whose party it always has unreservedly supported. But what of "Streamline the Highways"? In view of our contemporary's antipathy to the Alaska Highway?

Mr. Baxter

TORONTO SATURDAY NIGHT'S REFERENCE to the lecture tour—some Canadian newspapers have preferred to call it a "lecturing" tour—which Mr. Arthur Beverley Baxter has just completed would seem to contain some good advice for this Canadian-born Conservative member of the British House of Commons for the Wood Green division of Middlesex. The well-known weekly concludes a somewhat penetratingly-critical analysis of Mr. Baxter's conception of working democracy with this:

"Mr. Baxter is a Canadian by birth, but he has chosen to live in England and has become an M.P. there. At present there is plenty to occupy British M.P.'s in their own country."

The foregoing furnishes its own commentary. Many Canadians, however, have not forgotten the Arthur Beverley Baxter who assumed the role of apologist for the Chamberlain regime. And there is a chapter in Michael Foot's "Guilty Men" which seems to remind us that anything the member for Wood Green may say at this stage carries no special authority. Mr. Foot was known as "Cato" when he wrote No. 1 of the Victory Series of pamphlets; he was referring to the Blitzkrieg when he honored Mr. Baxter with a few lines all to himself. Here they are:

"The Blitzkrieg: It means lightning war. This was the Blitzkrieg which Mr. Beverley Baxter, M.P., in his role of government spokesman, had assured his Sunday-dinner public in April, 'threatened to become a comic epitaph.' It is extremely unlikely that Germany will attack France," wrote Mr. Baxter three Sundays before the greatest war in the West. This Mr. Baxter is at present officially haranguing the British factory workers on the need for output to hold up the Blitzkrieg which has laid mighty France, mangled and bleeding, by the roadside."

Of course all this is history. But we seem to recall that the British government not so very long ago spanked eminent men like Sir George Paish and Colonel Josiah Wedgwood for talking out of turn in the United States. Mr. Baxter, therefore, had no occasion for surprise when he learned that his native land felt it could do without his "lecturing."

Fire Prevention Week reminds us that the one and only place to keep the home fires burning is in the furnace.

NEW RACIAL 'WHO'S WHO'

From Winnipeg Tribune
What the totalitarian states are trying to do to the science of ethnography would be funny if the times were not so tragic.

For centuries the world has believed that Alexander the Great, king of Macedonia, was a Greek. But the Italian newspaper Il Piccolo, published in Rome, has discovered that Alexander was really a pure Albanian and no relation at all to the Greeks of today who are treating the Italian soldiers in such ungentlemanly fashion.

Not long ago the Italians were protesting their complete Aryanism. This discovery by Mussolini that Italians were really Aryans was made just in time to make them fit to welcome their German brothers-Aryans who are now overrunning their country. And, of course, the Japanese are honorary Aryans.

When Himmler, head of the German secret police, visited Spain some months ago, the Spanish newspaper Arriba broke out in rejoicing over the discovery that the Spaniards are not really a Latin people, as the world had so long supposed. They were really, said Arriba, the descendants of the Visigoths, an ancient Teuton people, and as such were delighted to welcome the Aryan Himmler on equal terms.

SECURITY

LAST WEEK-END I harvested 600 pounds of potatoes. Six hundred pounds. A great many potatoes, several thousand, I suppose, and I had to dig the space of a small city lot in the process, besides carrying 600 pounds up from the garden.

Six hundred pounds of potatoes do something to a man. Apart, I mean, from breaking his back and rendering him useless for two weeks. They do something to him spiritually.

There is a sense of wonderful security in 600 pounds of potatoes—six sacks, full to the top. A false sense, I admit. Years ago you might think that 600 pounds of potatoes made you secure during a cold, lean winter, but you cannot really think so now, if you look at the world frankly. Fortunately, men are not built so that they look at anything frankly, or they would all jump into the harbor; and built thus, a man can look at 600 pounds of potatoes, all sacked up in the basement, and feel a sudden warm glow of assurance.

There are the proceeds of digging in the cold wet soil of the spring, of back-breaking evenings in March, of Roeling in July and watering in the hot midnight (when the sprinkling restrictions were in force). There is the result of deep digging last week-end and much carrying and grunting. There is enough food to keep two European families until spring. There is the thing for which half the world is hungry tonight—good food out of the earth. Almost it is sinful to own it in such a world; but then, every potato raised at home is that much less pressure on the world's food supplies, another potato available for Britain or the unfortunate people who live in the city beyond the hill yonder. Six hundred pounds make you feel like a benefactor of the human race.

So if we seem a little optimistic in basing our security and future life on 600 pounds of potatoes, do not grudge us our little moment of pleasure, after a season of toil. We ought to have some reward. The potatoes themselves are very little use—hollow in the middle with yagde diseases all over their faces and a queer taste—but at least we have security. Six hundred pounds of it

EXHIBIT

READING ABOUT sporting events weeks late, as usual, I come across this dispatch from New York: "Joe Louis was after Nova. A left hook to the head spun Nova around. A right to the head sent him reeling towards a neutral corner. A one-two punch drove him three feet along the ropes. Now Louis ran after him instead of walking. A right to the head sent Nova crashing into the corner. Almost before the right had landed, Louis hooked a left that landed on Nova's eye. It ripped flesh and sent blinding blood coursing down Nova's face. Louis drew back his right..."

This was not a story of the Russian war. This was a sporting event in New York, to which thousands paid a high admission fee. Our descendants, reading the history of our times, the crisis of our civilization, the starvation of millions, will read this report of the Louis-Nova fight with some interest. They will wonder what kind of people lived in the year 1941 A.D. and why, in a world fighting to the death, it was considered amusing to see two low fellows put on a fight of a very inferior sort and charge admission.

ONE WAY OR OTHER

SOME PEOPLE tell me that they cannot buy war savings certificates and still maintain their ordinary way of life. This is hardly surprising since the whole purpose of the certificates is to alter that way of life. Money is only a curious set of symbols, a kind of parlor game, invented by economists to produce certain results. You don't save money to win the war. You save goods. And you save them by not buying them and buying war savings certificates instead. The government is simply asking us to change our way of life voluntarily by the easy and convenient method of saving money. If this doesn't work, the government will have to compel us to change our way of life by compulsion and perhaps by rationing. It will depend on whether we have enough sense to do it voluntarily, for change we must, and fast.

ABOUT PIES

From Vancouver Sun

The editor of the Ottawa Journal, evidently after a good lunch at the Rideau Club, sat down to write a prose ode to the blueberry pie. It has a fine flavor of poetry about it, besides the flavor of blueberries, and it contains the somewhat radical theory that the modern housewife can bake as good blueberry pie as her grandmother. The pie apparently was satisfactory at the Rideau Club that day.

But we are a little sad to think of the Journal eating plain blueberry pie when we have been eating loganberry pie out here, better still, the pie made of wild blackberries, picked on an old timber burn. The Journal has never seen the red juice run out of a loganberry pie or it would never venture to display its blueberry pies on the editorial page. It has never witnessed the royal purple or tasted the true ambrosia of wild blackberries or it would not think of sponsoring the humbler product of the east.

Ah well, we would not spoil the Journal's simple pleasure by letting it taste our British Columbia flavors, which do not grow in a cold country. But we would just like to point out, humbly but firmly, that while the blueberry pie has had a continual fanfare of publicity for generations and hundreds of willing press agents, the pies of British Columbia have never been discovered by the world. Perhaps it is as well. All the more for us.

STRANGE BORDER

IT USED TO BE that crossing the border from Canada to the States was no more of an ordeal than crossing from province to province in our own country. But not so any more. There is more red-tape to break through these days than there used to be barbed wire in front of the trenches in the now antiquated war of 1914.

The civilian must get a passport—and if he wants one for the whole family must not only produce all the answers about his ancestors—but maybe birth certificates for his children. Lord help him if any of the children happened to be born in Quebec in the days before they considered vital statistics as of interest to anything but the church. He must be identified, vided, photographed, and fingerprinted. He must pass immigration inspectors at both ends, customs collectors of the country he is entering. And he must be good enough to figure out some kind of a reason why Canada should allow him $5 a day expense money in all-precious U.S. funds.

Granted that all the officials I meet, both U.S. and Canadian, do everything in their power to ease the formality. It remains awe-inspiring enough to scare all but the most hard-shelled. No wonder border boats and trains feel like morgues. Most of the few people who do travel these days are in uniform.

It is one of the many paradoxes of this war that while it has made the border harder for the Canadian civilian to cross than it ever was since the war of 1812, the soldier, sailor or airman can cross either way in full paraphernalia of war.

STARTING TO ROLL

A trip to the States always acts as a tonic on me—as I never cease to wonder at how different people can be, separated by a mere imaginary line. Canada always seems to me slower, steeper. This republic has a dynamic freedom of all its own. There is a freedom of speech here, for instance—always, in peace or war, which never has existed in Canada. I mean the freedom of speech on buses, trains, hotel lobbies, where a fellow will discuss with a total stranger, not only the chances of the Yankees or Dodgers, but whether Lindbergh is really a Nazi, a plain sap, or a great patriot.

In Canada these days the impression one might get is of a great and growing army—but an army marking time. In the United States—at least in these parts—one can literally feel the hum of the mounting tempo of industrial power.

The fellow next me on the bus, for instance, tells his neighbor that "they" are taking them on at his plant these days at the rate of 1,000 per week. Figure that one out, reader—and contemplate what that means to a whole nation. For it could be multiplied scores or hundreds of times from coast to coast.

In shop language, that used by the thousands of Labor men now in convention here, things are really starting to roll these days. Last month, this country produced 1,914 war planes—a number that few of us will forget. A number far greater than that of last year, but small compared with what will be. The industrial giant is starting to do his stuff.

WINGS AND LEGS

So far the war has meant nothing but better living to the great mass of the people of this country—as, indeed, it has to the people of Canada. The extra purchasing power, poured into circulation by the war production boom, has gone to enable the people to buy the things they have wanted but have not been able to get. Of course, prices are going up. Of course, everybody knows that the real pinch of actual physical shortage is yet to come. But it certainly has not come yet.

In this city, for instance, is a federal Housing Project which is building homes to rent at a price that seems like a Cinderella dream.

And in eight months the female population of this arsenal of democracy purchased just over 98 million dozen pairs of stockings. Figure that one out—98 million dozen pairs for not over 65 million females, from 1 to 100. They may be figuring on winning the war with wings—but the mere male can depend on a pleasant eyeful for many months to come. Ninety-eight million dozen is considerable hosiery.

As for what the minds above the legs are thinking I hope to know more in a few days than I now do. This small corner of the republic is not the whole nation. But it is the corner I happened to be in 18 months ago when the Nazis made their first coup—by the invasion of Norway. That is when Mr. Chamberlain said "Hitler has missed the bus." Churchill said we would clean them out again by that same summer. The bellhop at the hotel was sure that Hitler had stuck his neck out that time. We are all more cautious now.

EACH COUNTRY MUST DECIDE

From Winnipeg Free Press
Would Mr. Baxter go to North ern Ireland and urge conscription against the advice of Mr. Churchill? Would he go to South Africa and tell General Smuts, a man of true statesmanship, that his country should have conscription? If circumstances alter cases, the people of each country should decide, without outside assistance, how far they alter them and just what their country should do.

Extend Classes At Night School

Heavy demands for instruction in certain specialized subjects have necessitated doubling of teaching hours in some courses at the Victoria night school. George Anstey, director, announced today.

This year four classes will be conducted each week in dressmaking to meet the overflow from the two weekly groups originally planned. The second division in dressmaking met Tuesday night at 7.30 in the Central Junior High home economics room. Those unable to enroll in the previously scheduled class but who wish to secure instruction from Mrs. L. Gibson, are advised to attend promptly.

Also doubled to meet the unusual number of students seeking the course is the class in navigation. Instead of one class meeting Thursday, two will meet on Thursday and Monday respectively. Capt. A. McDonald will conduct the opening classes for D. Cantell, who will return shortly to the city to resume his night school activities.

Carpentry and joinery groups will meet Monday and Wednesday, instead of Monday only, at Central Junior High. J. Spence will be instructor.

Similar arrangements have been made for machine construction and drawing, with Alex Robertson and his assistant, Noel Barker, conducting four sessions each week, one class on Monday and Wednesday and the other Tuesday and Thursday at Central Junior High. The new arrangements for that division will go into effect on Thursday.

L. Campbell and A. H. Marston will assist R. F. Goldfinch in the woodwork section, also at the Junior High. Extra nights will be Tuesdays and Fridays, starting this Friday.

Owing to insufficient enrolment, classes in applied design and modern merchandising were closed Monday night. Lack of facilities prevented extension of commercial classes, although some students will be accommodated in shorthand and bookkeeping classes instead of typing.

WEDDINGS

JOHNSTON—ROBERTSON

Wearing a lovely white gown of silk chiffon over heavy satin, fashioned on Princess lines, with V neck, long sleeves and full skirt extending into a train, long silk embroidered veil, caught in pleated halo effect with clusters of orange blossoms, the whole complemented by a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses and carnations, Aileen Cosgrave, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Robertson, 1042 Cloverdale Avenue, formerly of Edmonton, became the bride Tuesday evening at 8 at St. John's Church, of Signalman William Arthur Johnston, R.C.C.S., only son of Mrs. Elizabeth Johnston, Hughes Road, Saanich, and the late Mr. W. H. Johnston.

The bride walked down the aisle on the arm of her father, Rev. George Biddle officiated, the church being decorated with attractive arrangements of Michaelmas daisies, golden rod, asters, dahlias and zinnias. Mr. Ian Galliford presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register accompanied Mr. James McVie, who sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. J. Caddell was matron of honor, and Miss Jean Scott, bridesmaid. Their frocks of twilight blue taffeta, with fitted waists and long bouffant skirts, had shirred bodices with square necklines, that of Mrs. Caddell having long full sleeves caught into the wrists, and that of Miss Scott finished with short puffed sleeves. Their little shepherdess hats of matching shirred taffeta were tied at the back of their heads, with bands of pink taffeta, and they carried arm bouquets of spectrum carnations and pink snapdragons tied with pink tulle. Mr. Eric Wilson was groomsmen, and acting as ushers were Mr. Herbert Gorby and Mr. Harold Kirk.

Michaelmas daisies and chrysanthemums made a seasonable setting for the reception at Royal Oak Inn, which followed the ceremony. Mrs. Robertson welcomed the guests in a smart bolera gown of black crepe lace over midnight blue taffeta with matching accessories and wide-brimmed black felt hat. Mrs. Johnston assisted her in a rose crepe ensemble, the frock having a beige insert in the skirt, with black hat and accessories. Both wore corsages of pink and white carnations, respectively. Supper was served at small tables, the three-tier wedding cake having the place of honor at the bridal table, which was cut by the bride, after Rev. G. Biddle proposed the toast.

For her honeymoon trip to Vancouver, the bride changed to a two-piece blue crepe frock, trimmed with burgundy buttons, with black accessories and black-brimmed felt hat, over which she donned a black seal coat, the gift of the groom. Completing her costume was a corsage of red carnations. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston will reside on Hughes Road, Saanich.

Partington, organist, selections played during the signing of the register being "Intermezzo" and "Because."

Rainbow blue chiffon fashioned the pretty floor-length gown worn by the bride, who was given in marriage by her father. It was made with bishop sleeves, an appliqued neckline of flowers and a gathered girdle belt from which the skirt hung in full, graceful folds. Her shower bouquet was of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

The buffet supper table was centred with a two-tiered cake, surrounded by a horseshoe in pink and white motif composed of snapdragons,

"In endorsing this week as Fire Prevention Week," said Fire Chief Alex Munroe today, "I do so in the knowledge that in furthering the movement of fire prevention we are at this time serving a double purpose, knowing as we do the yearly colossal waste by fire, especially at a time when it is so essential that we should unite every effort we can to preserve the resources of our country for war purposes.

"We, as we should be, armed today against that enemy 'fire.' In preventing fires in our homes, factories or places of business, either through ordinary causes, sabotage or as the result of invasion, we are surely helping in the common cause, the preservation of our resources so necessary at this time.

"To the business men, may I remind you of the necessity of organizing among your own employees your own fire brigade, which may become a vital asset in our civilian defence program. Remember one plane can carry approximately 2,000 incendiary bombs, which, granted a great percentage become ineffective for various reasons, it is estimated that it would find their mark, a serious situation for any community. The public fire department obviously could not hope to cope with every fire in case of invasion.

"Start now, do not fail to be prepared. Most fires are small to start, no matter what the cause. If you make adequate provision

Fire hazards are often difficult to recognize, even when you're looking directly at them. The six major hazards include the accumulation of oily rags and old newspapers along with other rubbish, which may cause spontaneous combustion; carelessness with petroleum and its products, such as cleaning fluid; overheated chimneys, flues, stoves, furnaces, boilers and their pipes; sparks on inflammable roofs; carelessness with matches and other smoking materials; and misuse of electricity and electrical apparatus.

How many of the fire hazards pictured here, in order of importance, do you recognize? By learning to know them now, during Fire Prevention Week, you will be helping yourself and Canada in the important job of home defence. (For answers, turn to page 9.)

OCTOBER 5 to 11, 1941

This week has been set aside throughout the whole continent as "Fire Prevention Week"—a period when the Governments join with the Underwriters to impress upon the public the tremendous annual waste through fire, and the need for greater care to prevent this loss.

The Victoria and District Insurance Agents' Association, representing Board Companies, for years past has been urging the people of Vancouver Island to stop this waste. With good results, too, as witness the reduced fire losses in recent years and the consequent decrease in insurance rates.

Realizing the vital importance of fire prevention in Canada in this time of National Emergency and recognizing the value of the work of the Underwriters' Associations, the Dominion Government has requisitioned the services of the Manager of the B.C. Underwriters' Association for fire prevention duties in industrial centres throughout the country.

Comprising the Victoria and District Insurance Agents Association in Victoria who have subscribed to this space in the interests of Fire Prevention Week include the following:

C.C.F. Platform Golden Rule

Geoffrey LeGallais, C.C.F. candidate in Oak Bay, said at a meeting in Oak Bay Theatre Hall Tuesday that in the final analysis socialism and Christianity were synonymous.

"That it is still in abeyance after 2,000 years is just too bad, and a bitter indictment against the present social order," he said. "To my way of thinking the C.C.F. platform is simply an amplification of the Golden Rule."

Mr. LeGallais quoted Schapiro's "Modern and Contemporary History" to the effect that socialism "is by far the most significant movement of our day; not only has it enlisted the enthusiastic devotion of millions of followers throughout the world but it has also profoundly influenced the views of many who are not its adherents."

The candidate also read from "Act Now," by the Dean of Canterbury that "the machine is stalled because production is unorganized and inspired by wrong motives . . . private ownership has had its day and rendered its service . . . necessary once when capital was scarce and production had not been mastered, it is out of date now when capital accumulates rapidly in too few hands."

Mr. LeGallais said that as a farmer he knew something of the chaos resulting from the manipulation and maldistribution under an unplanned economy.

He spoke of socialist efforts to preserve peace in the world, and how they had warned time and again against the steps which led to conflict. Canada's war effort, he claimed, would remain bogged down until the present administration was swept away and replaced by a people's government.

MORALE

Mrs. Hilary Brown, Alberni, the guest speaker, declared the morale of Canadian people, on which victory depends, was definitely poor and needed strengthening.

This morale, she said, would only improve if people were convinced of the sincerity of their leaders. Corruption and graft existed today and intimidation of employees was common in British Columbia.

Many workers, she charged, were afraid to join the C.C.F. party because they feared losing their jobs. Since this was the situation there was good reason for the fear of intimidation.

Mrs. Brown could not see any object in fighting for democracy unless the country was prepared to maintain free speech. Reviewing the C.C.F. platform she warned that it did not promise "pie in the sky" to anyone, but an orderly manner of operating society.

H. O. Simpson said there was no use politicians trying to make the conduct of the war a provincial campaign issue. The one issue, he said, was social security for the majority of people.

W. B. Caird and Mrs. Clare McAllister were the other speakers.

Letters to the Editor

FOR A STEEL INDUSTRY

Norman McLarty, Minister of Labor, is reported as saying this province should develop a basic steel industry in order to supply the needs of our war-time ship-building program, the expansion in which industry he characterized as "amazing".

Many more or less amazing events have been noted by this writer since first advocating the development of a steel industry in B.C., the logical place being Union Bay, V.I., B.C. The logical person to do it is none other than Sir Edward Beatty, K.C., who will accomplish the most amazing results as and when he finally decides to commence such a long overdue industry.

H. P. WINSBY.

WHY?

The 2.45 BBC broadcast on Sunday stated, I believe, that there is to be a parade in London of Bren guns, tanks, etc., to stimulate aid to Russia. Is anything of this kind being done in Canada, and if not, why not?

Why is it that Mackenzie King and his associates are silent on aid to Russia when such famous men as Churchill and Sir George Paish favor it?

DORIS ASHDOWN.

SINKING IN

Mr. Rodd of Cumberland states: "The Rowell-Sirois report was based on peacetime investigation." This remark in itself suggests that the facts would have been different had the investigation been conducted while Canada was at war. I feel confident that the commission of investigation would resent this remark very sincerely.

In reality Mr. Rodd's letter is merely a political tirade against the C.C.F. when he states: "The C.C.F. leaders are apparently basing their election campaign on unfounded criticism of the old line parties and any industry or individual that does not coincide with their fantastic ideas." It is very obvious that Mr. Rodd has quite conveniently forgotten their record at the polls in the past. This being true, it must be correct to state that a large number of people were in agreement with their fantastic ideas (as Mr. Rodd classifies them).

The inconsistencies of our system are becoming so apparent today that all propaganda in its favor merely adds a shaft of light on some point of its insidiousness. Not many months ago we on this North American continent were told that Russia did not require any aid, either in money or materials; now propaganda is wearing itself out in

For Post-war Emigration

Officials of the British Dominions Emigration Society announce that they are already laying plans for a mass wave of emigration from Britain to Canada immediately after the war.

Founded some 60 years ago as a philanthropic organization, the first purpose of the British Dominions Emigration Society was to assist settlers in Canada to reunite with their families. Though its activities have necessarily had to be suspended since the outbreak of war, it is fully expected that larger numbers than ever before will apply for passage assistance immediately after the cessation of hostilities.

One of Canada's immediate needs after the war will be immigration from the British Isles. Many adventurous spirits will first strike out alone, leaving their families temporarily in Britain, and the Emigration Society expects many calls to be made upon it to assist wives and children to join their husbands and fathers. This is the particular purpose for which the organization was originally founded and the society is now laying its plans an endeavor to make us believe the opposite. That a very definite, subtle and futuristic meaning underlies this switch is taking room in the minds of many people.

JOHN McDERMOTT.
674 Battery Street.

and, at the same time, save sufficient money to bring their families to the new land. The British Dominions Emigration Society was formed by a group of charitable-minded citizens to assist in the reunion of these families by advancing loans without interest charges. More than 40,000 families have been assisted and hundreds of thousands of people now in Canada owe their presence to the work of this organization. Its activities have stirred the warm commendation of many British and Canadian government officials and, most recently, for the continuance of its work and the promise of further assistance to future immigrants, the earnest congratulations of the Canadian Premier, the Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King. Head office of the society is in London, England, and the Canadian manager is R. Gordon Burgoyne, Montreal.

By PETE SALLAWAY

LOU NOVA may have been an awful flop in his recent bout with heavyweight champion Joe Louis, but he at least succeeded in doing one thing. Nova the Yogi knocked all thought of retiring out of the head of one Joe Louis. The beak-busting business would be pretty sad without the champion. "I'm not going to quit fighting while the picking is so easy, anyway," drawls Louis.

So Louis opens his exhibition tour of army camps in the Sixth Corps Area, comprising Illinois and Michigan, at Fort Sheridan, near Chicago, tonight, as full of fight as he was when he spilled his first professional opponent, Jack Kracken, in a round, July 4, 1934.

Louis went into training for the Nova debacle reluctantly, and there was considerable talk of it being the kid's last fight.

But it will take more than Nova and his dynamic stance to make him change his mind again.

Louis certainly has to deal with Primo Carnera to Nova, the latter the softest of all.

Classed 1A in the draft, Louis expects to enter the army shortly and is quite keen about it.

He will have no difficulty obtaining furloughs for fistic forays, especially in view of the fact that he'd like to make one start for United Service Organizations. Should army regulations preclude his going to the ring wars, he will be 28 next May 13 and eligible to apply for an honorable discharge.

Meanwhile, Billy Conn, who was winning the title until clipped in the 13th round in June, has been placed in cold storage until next June.

A second edition with Conn is the only big money shot in sight.

Mike Jacobs, no doubt, will reorganize the Bum-of-the-Month Club for Louis after the first of the year.

Writing in the New York Post, Stanley Frank comments on the Nova-Louis bout as follows:

"Of all the respected challenges, Louis has met, Nova by far was the easiest. I'm convinced Louis could have put him away in a round or two had he known Nova was such an inept opponent or had he been willing to expose himself to the danger which never materialized. Nova landed no more than three short jolts which stung, but hardly hurt, the champion.

"Louis stalked his man as if he intended to win the fight with one punch. He waited patiently, boxing beautifully and making Nova miss ridiculously. He staggered Nova in the fourth, but the punch landed too high on the challenger's head to drop him.

"The opening he wanted came in the sixth. And when Louis struck, he hit with such explosive swiftness that his right arm and plunging body were seen as a blur. Nova went down with a foolish, unbelieving grin on his face. The fight was finished then, and when Nova got up off the floor Louis leaped in with awesome fury and purpose.

"Louis knew he had the fight in his hip pocket in the fourth round when Nova wound up ridiculously with his right and missed from here to Cape Horn. Louis smiled sheepishly, as if he was embarrassed by Nova's ludicrous effort. A note of alarm crept into Arce's voice.

("Steady, Lou," Arce shrieked. "Box him.")

Again Nova imitated a man cranking a car. Again Louis smiled, moved inside and belabored Nova with a good right and left to the head.

"That was the ball game, although the clean, hard shot Louis wanted did not come until the sixth.

"Nova was brave and rugged; he always has been proud of his ability to absorb punishment, but the human frame never was designed to withstand the cold, controlled brutality Louis was dealing out.

"I have a strong suspicion Nova will never be a top-drawer fighter again. He has taken three frightful shellackings, from Max Baer, in the first fight; from Galento and Louis, but until last night an uncanny belief that he was destined to win the championship sustained him and fortified his meagre technical qualifications. Now Nova must know he never will win the title and with that realization may go the determination which was his chief asset.

"I may be wrong. In his dressing room, Nova, after praising Louis extravagantly as a great fighter, declared he will claim the title if Louis goes into the army.

"My claim is as good as anybody's, isn't it," he demanded. "A loud hush answered him. Billy Conn and Buddy Baer, even Red Burman, made immeasurably better fights against Louis. If the champion does go into the army, any man who claims the title will be a rank impostor until Louis willfully and willingly abdicates."

Sacramento Wins

Deadlocks Playoff

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Sacramento was all square in its Coast League Shaughnessy playoff baseball battle with Seattle today, and driving hard to knock the champion Rainiers out of their second successive President's Cup.

Behind the two-hit pitching of George Munger, the runner-up Solons blanked Seattle 3 to 0 last night to deadlock the seven-game final series at two games each. Munger's brilliant hurling kept the league champions in check throughout the game, only one runner getting as far as second base.

Sacramento got the deciding run in the second on Les Sarcella's error and a single, and added tallies in the seventh on Bill Blakeley's homer and in the eighth on Jack Sturdy's double.

Seattle has captured the league pennant three years in a row, but won the President's Cup and $5,000 first money in 1940. Sacramento won the playoffs in 1939, after finishing fourth during the regular season.

The two clubs meet again tonight. R. H. E. Seattle 0 2 2 Sacramento 3 7 1 Batteries—Cole and Collins; Munger and Klutz.

PAR COMPETITION

The second monthly par competition, 18 holes with three-quarters of handicaps allowed, will be held Sunday at the Victoria Golf Club. Competitors will choose their opponents and arrange for their starting times. Post entries will be accepted.

Persons interested in the formation of a Commercial Ice Hockey League this coming season are asked to attend a meeting in the Colonist boardroom on Friday evening at 7.45. Delegates from prospective clubs or associations are requested to attend.

Oregon Upsets Huskies

One of the biggest upsets in a day of big upsets in United States football last Saturday came off at Portland, Ore., when Oregon State beat Washington 9 to 6. Above, Bob Dethman, left, Oregon, runs back his interception of Erickson's pass from his own 15-yard line to the 33 before being tackled from behind by Ernest Steele, centre, Husky half.

Basketballers Announce Plans

Basketballers got their heads together last night and made plans for the coming season in Victoria and district. Following the session the complete slate of officers for the Victoria and District League was announced as follows: President, Ernie Stock; vice-president, Bob Whyte; secretary-treasurer, Bill Cull; executive members, Dave Nicol and Bill Bridgwood.

Entries for all divisions of the league will close October 15 with a general meeting the following night to arrange schedules. Policy of the league this season will be the promotion of junior, juvenile and intermediate basketball. It was announced that the districts of Sooke and Saanich will now come under the jurisdiction of the Victoria league.

All exhibition games will come under the jurisdiction of the local league and it was decided to use an all-star team in these games. Dave Nicol was appointed manager of the rep club and will have the privilege of selecting any player to perform. Profits from these games will go towards promoting the minor leagues. The possibility of organizing an international league with Seattle clubs participating is being investigated. Teams will leave their entry forms at Bill Cull's confectionery store at the Willows or Bob Peden's sporting goods store.

Seeks to Organize Fourth Grid Squad

Plans are being made by Don Douglas to form a fourth team for play in the Canadian Football League. With the object of organizing, Douglas has called a workout tonight at Macdonald Park at 6. Any players interested are invited to turn out.

Douglas has an outstanding lineman with last year's B.C. champion Revellers and his experience with Regina, Mefalomas and Knights of Columbus clubs in Vancouver fits him for the position of coach.

MIXED FOURSOMES

On Monday, Thanksgiving Day, a mixed foursomes will be held at the Victoria Golf Club, consisting of 18 holes medal play with half the combined handicaps allowed. Players will choose their partners and opponents and arrange for their starting time. Post entries will be accepted.

Opening of the Victoria and District Soccer League season will take place on Saturday afternoon when the Victoria Machinery Depot and Royal Canadian Artillery clash at the Athletic Park, starting at 2.30. Dave McMillan will referee.

On Sunday afternoon at Bullen Park at 2.30 Esquimalt will tackle the Victoria West, with Edgar Gorge handling the whistle. It was announced last night that the Saanich Thistles and Esquimalt have combined for this season and that the Royal Air Force will not compete in the local league.

CHICAGO LINE-UP

CHICAGO (AP)—Manager Paul Thompson and coach Helge Bostrom are at Hibbing, Minn., where their Chicago Black Hawks begin training for the National Hockey League season. Thompson has ordered 15 veterans and three rookies to report for the initial workout. The veterans returning are Sam Lo Presti, goalie; defencemen, Joe Cooper, Earl Seibert, Art Wiebe and Johnny Mariucci, and forwards George Allen, Bill Thomas, Cully Dahlstrom, Mush March, Joe Papike, Phil Hergesheimer, Bob and Bill Carse and Doug and Max Bentley.

The rookies are Horace La Marche, goalie from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; Alex Kaleta of Canmore, Alta., and Clifford Purpur, Grand Forks, N.D., who starred last season with St. Louis Flyers of the American Association.

PATRICK SILENT
WINNIPEG (CP)—The usually volatile Lester Patrick of the New York Rangers National Hockey League team closed up like a clam Tuesday night when asked about progress of his amateur hockey school here.

He said no word about the school would be forthcoming for a few days "as circumstances are very unusual this year."

"It is advisable to withhold information concerning these matters until the difficulties around us are all cleared up," he said, explaining his organization has encountered certain militia and Canadian Amateur Hockey Association problems.

Patrick did not say what the problems are but it was understood that they centred around prospects of getting passports for Canadian hockey players to perform in the United States next winter and permission from the C.A.H.A. for a number of junior players to move to Rangers' amateur farm team, the New York Rovers of the Eastern United States Amateur League.

Patrick's eighth annual school opened here Monday when 27 amateurs, the majority Winnipeg players, checked in.

Low Jenkins Has Purse Held Up

NEW YORK (AP)—In a series of drastic actions, the New York State Athletic Commission yesterday took steps to avoid such fight fiascos as the Freddie Cochrane-Lew Jenkins shindig here Monday night and frowned heavily on the actions of Lou Nova's handlers in the Californian's heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis last week.

Promoter Mike Jacobs was instructed to hold up Jenkins' purse, amounting to approximately $7,000, as the result of his poor showing against the welterweight titleholder, Jenkins, showing little of the punching ability that carried him to the top of the 135-pounders in this state, was knocked down five times by Cochrane and finally dropped the 10-round decision in a dull fight.

The commission also ordered Jenkins and his Texas manager, Fred Browning, immediately to post a $1,500 forfeit for Lew's title fight here October 31 with Sammy Angott, the N.B.A.-recognized champion. Commissioner Bill Brown also made it clear that hereafter Jenkins would do his training in New York when he is fighting here.

No action was taken against Cochrane but his manager, Willie Gilensberg of Newark was suspended for six months for instructing the welter king to hold back in the early rounds. Ray Carlen, manager of Nova, was given the same suspension and Lou's trainer, Ray Arce, 60 days, for doing the same thing in the Louis fight. Carlen and Arce also were reprimanded for failure to obey the referee's warning regarding the use of grease on Nova.

Bays' Ambitious

Want Crack at Mann Cup

Now that Ted Menzies has managed to arrange a game with his intermediate lacrosse champions, the Bays, and Vancouver's mighty Burrards for Saturday night at the Sports Centre, he is wondering just how his club can get a crack at the Mann Cup.

Yesterday Ted threw some light on the subject. If his team takes the Burrards, and the Bay manager admits it is a formidable if, he intends to challenge the winner of the Richmond-St. Catherine series, with the Mann Cup, emblematic of Canadian senior lacrosse supremacy, at stake.

He said that he would travel to Vancouver Sunday to see if arrangements could be made. In the event that the Bays find Ed Irvine's crew too tough he will do his best to arrange an exhibition game with either the delta farmers or St. Kitts.

In any case the Victoria team will hold a workout this evening

Two Rookies Hurdled Handicaps

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Gordon, the Yankees' great second baseman, was having his right arm pumped practically off at the champions' victory celebration the night of the fifth and deciding world series game.

His coat off and his tie loosened, Gordon could only grin happily as the invited guests congratulated him on his spectacular play against the Brooklyn Dodgers and his selection as the official series hero. President Ed Barrow, the septagenarian head of the greatest empire the sports world has seen, smiled benignly from a table near the door.

Paul Krichell, chief scout of the Yankees, the man who passes final judgment on promising players, dug up from a thousand diamonds over the country, also was slipping the rewards of victory and accepting a few congratulations, himself. The writer chose a lull in the happy conversation to assume that Paul agreed with everybody else that Gordon had been the bright shining star of the play-offs.

"No," he said decisively. "I don't. Gordon only did what we expected him to do. We knew he was a great player. The real heroes of the series were two pitchers — Ernie Bonham and Marius Russo."

"There was a shocked silence for a moment while Paul's words were digested. He noticed it.

GREAT FEATS

"What did Russo and Bonham do?" he asked, patiently, not expecting an answer. "Here were a couple fellows we didn't know what they could do. Russo had a bad stomach and Ernie had a bad back. Neither had been in a world series before. And all they did was pitch a couple four-hitters and win games we had to have."

Looking back on the five-game series, there was a lot in what Krichell said. Gordon with his 500 batting average, his several walks, his slick fielding and his home run that jarred the Dodgers at the outset of the classic, undoubtedly supplied the Yankees' sustained punch. But what if either Russo or Bonham, owners of inconspicuous records for the regular season, had failed to come through exactly when he did with one of the greatest performances of his career?

When Russo went to the hill in the third game at Ebbets Field, the series was deadlocked at one victory apiece and the Dodgers were loaded with confidence.

As for Bonham, he was McCarthy's fifth choice as a starting pitcher. Red Ruffing was not ready to start again. Bonham, a strapping 210-pounder, was about the only man McCarthy had left, barring the faded Lefty Gomez.

And so it was under those circumstances that he lumbered out to the mound and gave perhaps the outstanding pitcher performance of the series, throttled the Dodgers and blasted their last hope of getting back in the running.

ROOT RELEASED
CHICAGO (AP)—Charlie Root for 16 years a star pitcher with the Chicago Cubs and a 201-game winner through that span, was given his unconditional release today.

Jim Gallagher, general manager of the Cubs, said the 42-year old hurler had been offered a job as coach with the Los Angeles team of the Coast League. Root has indicated, Gal-

British Want to See Red Cochrane

NEW YORK (AP)—Catching up on the news: Ted Broadbribb writes Nat Fleischer, editor of the Ring Magazine, that he's serious about getting Red Cochrane over to London to tangle with Arthur Danahar, the British Empire champ... but he doesn't explain what he proposes to do about getting Red's dough over here.

Eastern racing folk, who had their doubts about Alsab until they saw him, now are going for the Chicago colt in a big way. Handicapper Jack Campbell handed him 135 pounds for Saturday's Remsen Handicap at Jamaica and assigned Requested only 126.

Dolph Camilli made the fastest getaway of any of the world series players. He's piloting his own plane out to his California ranch.

The Joe Diamaggio heir is expected in about a month and Marius Russo will welcome another southpaw in December. DIMag was worried more about the coming event than his batting average during the series.

One-eyed Connolly earned a regular job with the national semi-pro baseball tournament when he didn't let a single gate crasher escape while 103,000 cash customers came in.

Tony Sisti, the Buffalo boy who combined painting with prize fighting, is sticking close to his palette these days and has a one-man exhibit at a New York gallery this week.

See Variety Show

At a variety concert staged for the troops at the Knights of Columbus Hut Sunday, Betti Clair and her dancers along with the roller coasters were the outstanding attraction. The dancing troupe included Joan Buckingham, Margaret Payne, Jerry Ashe, Doreen Kempton, Vivian Notley, Doreen McManus, Jean West, Irene and Shirley Campbell, Iris Brooks, Kay Schofield and June Freer.

Other presentations were comedy numbers by Nelly Payne and Tom Obee and musical numbers by Enid Middleton, Sid Chevreil, Frank Hayward and Paul Michell. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the entertainment by ladies of the K. of C. Auxiliary.

ducting courses for men in the services.

"British Columbia has given us more courses than any other province," Mr. Moore said.

Throughout Canada 10,000 men are receiving instruction through direct training and correspondence courses conducted by the Legion Services. Another 10,000 men in Britain are studying by correspondence.

Although soldiers, sailors and airmen are taking courses designed to help them most in the services, special stress is made to aid them in becoming re-established in civil life after the war, Mr. Moore said.

JOINS R.C.A.F.—Jack Southern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Southern, 337 Davida Street, left Sunday to enter a Royal Canadian Air Force training school in eastern Canada. He will train as a wireless operator-air gunner. Southern attended Tillicum and Mount View Schools while in Victoria and was a Times delivery boy.

SGT. PILOT HAROLD GARDNER, who won his wings as an R.C.A.F. pilot last June, is now with the Eastern Coastal Patrol. The son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Gardner, 367 Robertson Street, he was on the staff of the Victoria Times before joining the air force a year ago. After spending a few days furlough in Victoria, he has returned to his station.

George McGladry, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McGladry, Chemainus, is now taking a course as a radio officer in the R.A.F. Ferry Command at Montreal. McGladry joined the Scottish before war was declared and served with this unit on coastal guard duty for 10 months. In October, 1940, he was transferred to the R.C.A.F. and trained at Toronto, Brantford, Montreal and Mountain View, Ont., graduating as a wireless air gunner last August. His brother, Kenneth McGladry, is serving with the Canadian Army in Scotland.

Christmas Parties For Servicemen

At the monthly meeting of the hospitality committee of the auxiliary services held on Monday, plans were discussed for offering hospitality in the homes of Victorians to the men of the three services during the Christmas season. It is felt that the number of homes registered will prove inadequate at that time, particularly in view of the fact that so many R.A.F. boys will be here. This being their first Christmas away from their families and from Great Britain, the committee is anxious to see that not one is overlooked or left to feel homesick. Arrangements have been made to register the names of any citizens who are willing to offer Christmas hospitality to men of all the three services, and forms are available for this purpose as a general information bureau pose at the Y.W.C.A., who will act in connection with all hospitality for the troops. If anyone is unable to call they are asked to telephone G 7179, or send their names by mail to the Auxiliary Services Hospitality Committee, care of the Y.W.C.A., Blanshard Street.

It will be much better to have more homes than are needed rather than to have men looking for invitations and none forthcoming. While many Canadians may go on leave, yet there will still be many left behind who will appreciate Christmas dinner in a home and the R.A.F. will have no homes of their own in which to spend any leave which might be granted.

Played 'Tag' With 5 Nazis

LONDON (CP)—A Spitfire pilot who played "tag" with five German planes over Belgium, Holland and France is still laughing about the combat, although he had to spend 20 minutes in the English Channel. Two Messerschmitts were destroyed and the others just gave up.

The chase began near Dunkerque when the Germans pounced on the low-flying Spitfire. It sped away, dodging between chimneys and twisting and turning. As the leading German began to close in the Spitfire pilot spotted a mass of high-tension wires and ducked under them. The nearest Nazi, however, hit the cables and exploded.

After crossing the Belgian frontier into Holland the pilot doubled back on his course, recrossed Belgium and flew into France. Now and then bullets and cannon shells hit his craft, but it retained its speed. Finally, their ammunition exhausted, three Messerschmitts broke off the chase. With the odds now even, the Spitfire pilot turned and "polished off" the remaining German just before his gas ran out. His plane flopped into the channel where he was picked up by a rescue boat.

Four Canadian noncommissioned officers, men who were in the Old Country during the Battle of Britain, will speak tonight at the Capitol, Dominion, Atlas and Plaza Theatres.

Their services were secured by the Victoria and Island Branch of the National War Savings Committee. They will tell of some of their experiences overseas and show why it is necessary to buy war savings stamps and certificates to keep the soldiers, sailors and airmen fighting.

Sergeant W. Bennet Wright, who was in Britain for one year, will speak at the Capitol; Sergeant J. S. West, who had six months in the Old Country at the height of German air raids, will speak at the Dominion; Sergeant R. Ponsford, who spent nine months overseas, will talk at the Atlas, and Staff Sergeant S. E. Western, 11 months in the war zone, will be at the Plaza.

Chrysanthemum Show Planned Saturday

The final flower show of the season to be staged by the Victoria Horticultural Society will feature chrysanthemums in the Crystal Garden Saturday.

The season has been particularly good for chrysanthemums, and an exceptionally good show is anticipated.

Several of the specialists in this flower have arranged to make large displays, and the competitive classes will also be well filled. There will be special classes for artistic arrangements of chrysanthemums, and also of other flowers, such as roses, Michlamas daisies and dahlias, which are still in good bloom.

This show will complete the annual competition for the Banksian Medal, presented by the Royal Horticultural Society of England, and also the competition for the grand aggregate challenge trophy presented by Hon. Eric W. Hamber to the member winning the highest number of points at the society's four shows in 1941.

Entries are being received by the secretary, Alderman D. D. McTavish, at 618 Broughton Street.

Judges for the show will be Mrs. M. O. Mayhew, Mrs. Duncan D. McTavish, Fred Saunders, Albert Smith and W. Elder.

Clergyman Raps War Attitude

Dr. W. D. Wilson, for 17 years pastor of the First United Church in Victoria, addressing the Kiwanis luncheon, urged a more serious attitude to national and international problems.

"I have not seen the evidence I would like to have seen," he said in analyzing the war effort. To his mind the public has not responded the way it should to the government's pleas for gasoline conservation. Neither had the public seen the danger of inflation which is already upon them, he said.

He urged the public to consecrate themselves to the war effort. Kiwanis members were asked by the executive to give the apple selling plan and tag day further support. Three hundred boxes of apples have already been sold.

Toastmasters

The Victoria Toastmasters' Club, for the 1941-42 season, will be led by A. McCabe, who was elected president last night at a meeting at the Y.M.C.A. Other officers for the year are E. E. Public speaking courses for women will be started on Thursday night at 8, when Mr. Paulding will give instructional guidance and have a general question period.

Overseas Vote Starts Tomorrow

Voting in British Columbia's general election begins tomorrow.

At 14 polling stations in England, Scotland and Northern Ireland where men from the province are stationed in the armed forces of Canada balloting will take place for the next three days.

It is naturally a military secret how many British Columbians are there, or where they are stationed, but election officials said arrangements have been made to provide voting opportunities wherever there is a sufficient group of men located.

Men in the services go through a complicated procedure of voting. They must first take an affidavit stating they are entitled to vote and which riding they came from. Then they take a blank ballot and write on it the name of the candidate of their choice. This ballot is placed by the voter in an envelope which is sealed. The ballot envelope is placed in a larger envelope along with the affidavit. These will be all collected and sent to a central depot in London.

On the morning of October 22 ballot envelopes will be separated from their identifying documents and placed in a general box for counting.

By law voting will take place for at least three hours between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. during the next three days.

Troops stationed elsewhere in Canada than the province vote on October 14, 15 and 16.

Fractures Spine In Shipyard Fall

Condition today of George Locke, Bristol Hotel, who received a fractured spine Tuesday afternoon when he fell while working at the Victoria Machinery Depot shipbuilding yard at the Outer Wharf, was reported by St. Joseph's Hospital attendants as satisfactory.

Mr. Locke was attended by Dr. A. D. Bechtel, who stated the fracture was not of a critical nature. The injured man was rushed to hospital by C. and C. ambulance.

COURT HOUSE

Bail of $1,000 each was fixed by Mr. Justice Fisher in Supreme Court Chambers today for H. Ronald Smith and Albert Grey on the first of two charges on which they stand committed for trial at the fall assizes here. On the second charges they were released on their own recognizance, with sureties of $1,000 each. Both charges involved possession of stolen goods.

Rene Sauviat, committed on a charge of breaking and entering a suite in the Kent Apartments by night with intent to commit an indictable offence, today elected speedy trial before Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court. The case will be heard October 16, at 11.

Desirability of securing rules which would necessitate service on relatives of notice of a person's intention to apply for an order presuming some other legally dead, was expressed by Mr. Justice Fisher in Supreme Court Chambers today. The mere fact a husband could not contact a wife, or a wife a husband, did not necessarily mean either was dead, he noted, adding in some cases the wife or husband might be the last person who would communicate with the other.

The time for redemption and the date of sale of the Victoria Cold Storage & Terminal Warehouse Ltd. was extended to October 28 by a ruling of Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court Chambers Tuesday. The sale is sought to satisfy a mechanics lien held by Triangle Storage Ltd.

Rev. Father Emile Sobry of St. Joseph's Hospital becomes chaplain of Mount St. Mary; Rev. Father M. M. Sweeney of Mount St. Mary is appointed chaplain of Villa St. Joseph; Rev. Father Alex. MacLellan of Comox, is named chaplain of St. Joseph's Hospital, and Rev. Father Thomas Mangan, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Lake Hill, becomes chaplain of the Jubilee Hospital.

Pensioners Ask Immediate Bonus

Victoria Old Age Pensioners' Association demands that the provincial government grant a $10 a month cost-of-living bonus immediately without waiting for Ottawa to act.

At a meeting in First Baptist Church Tuesday this was put in resolution form asking candidates in the election to pledge themselves to such a bonus.

They were asked to urge the government to pass an immediate order raising pensions from $20 to $30 a month, or give a definite pledge that this would be done by any government that was elected.

The resolution stated that the government had already announced it was saving $1,200,000 a year in interest charges through retirement of $25,000,000 in debt this year, so that funds were available.

"There is no reason pensioners should not get the bonus now when they need it," said George A. Dyson, president. He was not impressed by the provincial government's contention that action rested with Ottawa which pays 75 per cent of the pensions.

He described as inhuman the present law requiring people to wait until they are 70 to get pensions.

The pensioners are asking generally for a reduction in the age limit to 65 and a permanent increase from $20 to $30 a month in the pension rate.

Provincial government approval of these changes has already been voiced by Premier Pattullo and communicated to Ottawa. W. T. Straith, K.C., Liberal candidate, explained to the meeting. He pointed out that since Ottawa paid 75 per cent of the pensions the decision must rest with the central government.

Major J. D. Hunter, Conservative candidate, said the Conservative platform also called for such changes, and went further in advocating removal of various restrictions in the act which might prevent people getting pensions.

H. O. Simpson, C.C.F., scored "Gestapo" methods used in questioning pensioners applying for allowances. He pledged the party to the proposed changes.

Major A. H. Jukes, Independent, proposed a sliding scale of increases to meet the changes in the cost of living.

Crushed By Trucks

When crushed between two trucks at the Capital Iron and Metals Ltd., 1832 Store Street, at 11.50 today, Hardial Singh, a Hindu, 779 Market Street, miraculously escaped death.

He was rushed to Jubilee Hospital by Constables T. Stevenson and N. Bath in the city police ambulance, where Dr. T. W. A. Gray attended him.

"He is suffering from abdominal injuries, but it is too early to tell the severity of them," the doctor reported. "I would say his condition was not bad."

Police said Hardial was loading his truck at the rear when a second truck driven by Vernon Reid, 620 Caledonia Avenue, backed up square to the injured man's vehicle. Hardial was caught between the two.

B.C. Reduces Gas But Victoria Up

While the rest of British Columbia's motorists decreased their consumption of gasoline in August, by comparison with last year, Victoria sales increased by 5,397 gallons, about 9-10th of 1 per cent.

However, this may not be as unpatriotic as it seems, the Coal and Petroleum Control Board said today in releasing figures on August consumption, because there has undoubtedly been a large increase in the number of cars located in Victoria, mainly due to concentration of service men in this area.

Victoria shared with the rest of the province a reduction of 545,166, or nearly 10 per cent, in the consumption between July and August, the first month of Ottawa's appeal for gas conservation and gasless Sundays.

The board placed total consumption for August at 6,906,145 gallons. In July it was 7,451,301 gallons.

LARGEST DROP

Out of the August total 4,651,751 gallons were sold through gas stations to motorists and this was the figure which dropped the most, 496,073 gallons. Greater Victoria's share was 604,391 gallons, Great Vancouver 2,360,953 gallons and the balance of the province 1,686,407 gallons.

By comparison with August of last year motorists purchased 134,662 gallons less. This was a drop of only 2.8 per cent gallonage, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, board chairman, pointed out, but during the same period auto registration increased by 6.35 per cent, so that average consumption was down around 10 per cent.

To commercial accounts went 1,434,535 gallons of which Victoria's share was 163,258 gallons, Vancouver 454,532 and balance of province 816,745.

Marine accounts took 708,180 gallons, divided as follows: Victoria 15,134, Vancouver 197,876, balance of province 495,170.

Aviation took 111,679, as follows: Victoria 28,149, Vancouver 60,729, balance of province 22,810.

Between July and August Victoria sales on all accounts dropped by 40,000 gallons, Vancouver's 196,000 gallons and the balance of the province 308,000 gallons.

Preparations for the annual Halloween parties held in several city districts will be discussed at a meeting to be attended by W. H. Warren, city parks superintendent, tonight. The majority of events are expected to be held in school auditoriums this year to avoid difficulties occasioned by uncertain weather conditions.

Macintosh Decries Road Patronage

Charging that the Liberal method of road expenditures was one of political patronage, Lt. Col. Macgregor Macintosh said Tuesday night that for years money had been spent piecemeal for party advantage but no idea of a constructive program.

Speaking at St. Luke's Hall, Col. Macintosh termed the system a disgrace and said that because he was on the wrong side of the House when he represented The Islands riding his requests for road works had been repeatedly turned down by the Minister of Public Works.

He said in the Slokan district this year $70,000 had been spent on roads, a sum out of all proportion to its needs, and then the government talked about the benefits of local representation.

In the post-war period, he said, road building would hold an important position and the planning could only be handled properly by an expert highway commission. Such a body could lay out a scientific plan to fit in with hydro-electric development and provide transportation for industrial development.

Playing the government for extravagance in wartime, putting its own needs ahead of the national needs, the speaker said $5,000,000 could be cut from provincial expenditures. Such a sum would be sufficient to establish and maintain an entire squadron of bombers in the R.C.A.F.

Thousands of young men were ready to fight and die for $1.30 a day. The same spirit should be remembered at home and politics pushed to the background.

Col. Macintosh demanded that planning for postwar rehabilitation should begin now and not wait for action by Ottawa when war ended. He suggested special committees of business and industrial leaders be established to work out reconstruction plans that would take care of the men returning from the front and those now engaged in war industries.

He said every farming community should be given a voice in overhauling the marketing act and called the present royal inquiry just a smoke screen behind which the government was hiding.

Political Arena

MEETINGS TONIGHT

City—Conservative rally at Conservative headquarters, 738 Fort Street, H. P. Robert, guest speaker.

Saanich—Liberal Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., at St. Aidan's Hall, Cedar Hill Cross Road.

Conservative, Lieut.-Col. Macgregor Macintosh at Institute Hall, Brentwood.

Equilmalt—C.C.F. Harry Webber at Jordan River Hall.

All meetings start at 8.

Finland Starts
Flying Officer E. V. Finland, Conservative, launched his campaign for re-election in Equilmalt Tuesday night at Langford Institute Hall. His speech was a resume of the problems confronting the district, with his stand on various provincial issues.

He has a schedule of seven meetings listed for this week and next as follows: Thursday, Metchoshin Hall; Friday, Lutton Hall; Saturday, Shawngin Lake Hall; October 14, Colwood Hall; October 16, Esquimalt Athletic Hall; October 20, Athletic Hall; with a meeting at Sooke to be arranged.

More Marketing
Commander C. T. Beard, who is F.O. Finland's Liberal opponent, spoke at Metchoshin Hall Tuesday night, with J. B. Cleariue as supporting speaker and W. M. Walker as chairman.

Commander Beard said he valued the campaign meetings as an excellent opportunity for him to familiarize himself with the problems of the district.

He touched on the Marketing Act and said he believed it had not worked out to the best advantage of farmers in Esquimalt riding and he was glad the government had started an inquiry which would make it possible to bring any complaints into the limelight.

Commander Beard met relatives of men who had served with him at sea.

Mr. Cleariue praised British Columbia's progressive educational system and sound financial position. Urging the voters to select a strong and efficient candidate to support the government's policies, Mr. Cleariue said that the first duty after winning the war was to win the peace by seeing that men were properly re-established in civil life.

Road Methods
Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., Saanich Liberal, attacked the Conservative proposal for a highway commission when he spoke at St. Augustine's Hall, Deep Cove, Tuesday night.

Such a commission, he said, would be just another board with autocratic powers, a bureaucracy controlling one of the most important phases of daily life.

Mr. Whittaker said that under the existing system electors could consult their members about road needs and if his services were not satisfactory he could be turned out. This was important to those living in outlying districts, especially.

The candidate argued that the so-called streamlined road policy of the Conservatives was inconsistent with their other contention that provincial expenditure be sharply reduced.

Have a Plan
Premier Pattullo, speaking at Ladner and Cloverdale Tuesday night in the interests of Arthur Laing, Liberal in Delta, denied his government was run without plan or system.

"They say we have no system," the Premier said. "Well, you can all go to see the big map that hangs in the deputy minister's office in Victoria and on it you will see every road in British Columbia—those finished, those under construction and those projected for the future."

Mr. Pattullo pointed to the Coal and Petroleum Board as another example of government planning and claimed that had the board not functioned, the price of gasoline would be much higher today.

Dictatorial
Provincial Secretary G. M. Weir denounced what he termed "dictatorial policies" on the part of leaders of the Conservative party.

"They talk of winning the war, to maintain freedom but they deny their own party members freedom," Dr. Weir said. "The leader of the Conservative party has refused the right to one of the members of his party to run because he doesn't agree with a plank in the party platform."

Marketing
At Penticton R. L. Maitland, K.C., provincial Conservative leader, placed himself unreservedly behind what he called "the principle of orderly control of farm products marketing."

Speaking in support of Tom Daly, Conservative candidate for Similkameen, Mr. Maitland said there has been suggestions—most unkind ones—that he was not sympathetic to such legislation. Such suggestions, he said, were based either on ignorance or low cunning.

The Conservative leader declared however that there was something wrong with the administration of the schemes in this province.

Menace
Harry Webber, C.C.F. candidate in Esquimalt, in his Langford speech Monday night, said the Liberal party had become a menace to Canada's war effort by allowing exportation of war materials to Japan.

He charged that the aluminum cartel had restricted output on this continent for years while Germany, defying the cartel had produced all she could. Now Canada had to collect old pots and pans while there was any amount of aluminum still under the soil.

Mr. Webber predicted that the "moribund" Conservative party would fade out of politics in Canada, leaving the Liberals and C.C.F. as the dominant groups.

He scored Premier Pattullo for asking a mandate of co-operation in the war effort two years late. He always had had the mandate, he said, and should have used it at the Sirols conference.

W. B. Caird, supporting speaker, demanded representation for labor on the various boards being formed for war purposes because he said these boards, as time went on, would become the actual government of Canada. Mr. Caird classed the Liberals as the reactionary governments of the world today.

Mrs. Clare McAllister dealt with health insurance and social services and claimed B.C. would never get health insurance until a C.C.F. government got power.

More Dictatorship
Harold Winch, C.C.F. leader, at Trail Tuesday night criticized the Pattullo government for "letting down" the people of British Columbia in their fight to defeat Hitlerism, and asserted that industry, resources and manpower must be mobilized on a nonprofit basis for a 100 per cent war effort.

Speaking in support of H. H. Herridge, C.C.F., candidate in Rossland - Trail, Mr. Winch charged that the Liberal government under Premier Pattullo was a "dictatorship," and that on its war program "it has lost the confidence of the people."

The C.C.F. leader said that Liberals and Conservatives had voted unanimously against a C.C.F. resolution for an embargo on all resources of war to Italy, Germany and Japan, and that Canada was sending copper and nitrates to Germany "up to July, 1939."

Mr. Winch maintained that the Liberal government had "repeatedly taken credit for legislation introduced by the C.C.F. Party such as credit unions, social legislation, amendments to the Minimum Wage Act, right of collective bargaining, silicosis legislation and compensation."

Urges Withdrawals
Harold J. Pritchett, secretary of the Vancouver District Labor Council, who withdrew as Independent Labor candidate in Vancouver Centre last week, has issued a signed statement urging Arthur J. Turner, provincial C.C.F. president, to withdraw as candidate in Vancouver East, in favor of Dr. J. Lyle Telford, who was elected in 1937 on a C.C.F. ticket, but now is running as an Independent Labor candidate.

Pritchett also suggested J. Lancaster, C.C.F. candidate in Fernie, quit the field in favor of Tom Uphill, perennial Labor member for the constituency.

WHITE SOX CHAMPS

Two Women Become Licensed Jockeys
AGUA CALIENTE, Mex. (AP)—One of the few professions which had remained exclusive for men was invaded yesterday by two girls who became licensed jockeys — The first in racing history on this continent, Caliente Club officials reported.

Anna Lee Wiley of Brush, Colo., and Hilda Hauser of Del Monte, Calif., received the licenses from George W. Schilling, director of racing, who said he failed to find anything in the rule books that bars girls from riding in regular races.

PLAZA THEATRE
In "Neutral Port," now showing at the Plaza Theatre, Yvonne Amand is co-starred with Will Fyffe and Leslie Banks. This famous French-born star gives a delightful performance in the role of Rosa, a fat Spanish caarten proprietress in the neutral port of Esperanto. Rosa's idea of neutrality is a novel one—to accept bribes impartially from both sides, imparting information on a cash-and-carry basis.

MELODIES AND MERRIMENT!
"THE GREAT VICTOR HERBERT"

Captain Tells Of Torpedoing

By CAPT. WILLIAM MELLO
Master of the Torpedoed Tanker

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The torpedoing of my boat shortly after midnight on September 27 was my first disaster in 20 years at sea.

We were steaming along at about 11 knots through seas whipped by brisk trade winds when, without warning, a torpedo struck us.

That was at 02.10 (2.10 a.m.) our position was 10.26 south latitude, 27.30 west longitude.

We had running and other navigation lights as well as ordinary shipboard lights burning and two spotlights focussed on the Panamanian flag the I. C. White was flying.

Panamanian flags were painted on the sides but were not illuminated because there was some moonlight, although the skies were partly overcast.

The torpedo struck No. 7 tank, which was aft.

It hit on the starboard side and the force of the explosion blew a hole in the port side. Fire started almost immediately.

The blast sprayed the after end of the ship with oil and this also shortly burst into flames.

We lowered two steel lifeboats and one wooden one—the tanker carried four—and I yelled to the men I knew to be aft to throw over a pontoon life raft and jump for it.

EXPLOSION FEARED

We all were afraid of a really big explosion with our oil cargo and the ship already afire, and we piled over the side and into the boats as fast as we could. Two of the men aft—there were three—jumped overboard and disappeared. The raft apparently carried away in the wake of the ship. We did not see the third man jump and don't know what happened to him.

Before taking to the boats, I saw what I was sure was a submarine on the surface about a quarter mile away. It disappeared into the darkness.

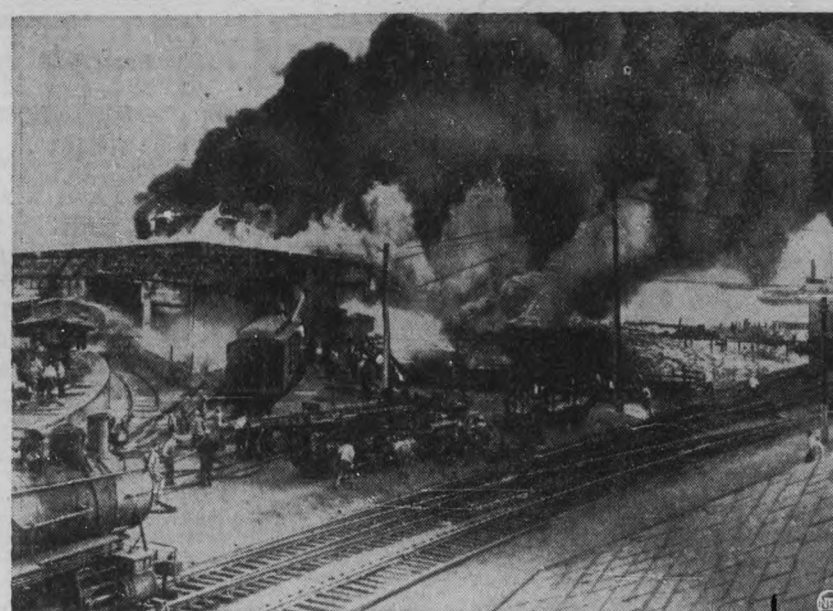

Some of the men thought there were two submarines, but I believe there was only one.

We were struck by a single torpedo and were not shelled.

The ship's engines were still going 90 minutes after we abandoned ship. She was going around in circles, burning fiercely.

A couple of times we had to row hard to avoid her.

Until the I. C. White sank by the stern at 5.45 we searched for the missing three men but did not find them. Another three and two others who had launched

FIRE OVER WATER—Sixteen firemen were injured as the New England Steel Ship freight pier of the New Haven Railroad, at New London, Conn., went up in flames, above, doing more than $200,000 worth of damage. Six carloads of soft coal were among shipments destroyed.

NORAH WILL GO ON ALASKA RUN

On November 1, Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Norah, which is now completing her semi-annual overhaul at the company's docks here, will enter the Alaska service and will remain on the northern route throughout the winter.

She will replace the Princess Louise, at present maintaining the Skagway route, which will then return to Victoria to be made available as a relief boat.

The largest contract was to the Canadian Car and Foundry Ltd., Montreal, $17,496,000 for aircraft building, and the next largest, a shipbuilding contract of $8,035,200, to the Grand Trunk Pacific, Montreal.

Western contracts valued at more than $5,000, in which other than capital expenditures were made by the contractors, include:

Shipbuilding—Westminster Iron Works Ltd., New Westminster, B.C., $280,800; Heaps Engineering Ltd., Vancouver, B.C., $624,920; Letson & Burpee Ltd., Vancouver, B.C., $226,800; Progressive Engineering Works, Vancouver, $140,400; Consolidated Engines and Machines Ltd., Victoria, B.C., $194,400.

Construction and defence projects—Poole Construction Co., Edmonton, $322,000; H. B. MacDonald & Co., Edmonton, $800,000; General Construction Co. Ltd., Vancouver, $13,458.

Munitions—Alberta Foundry and Machine Co. Ltd., Medicine Hat, Alta., $330,000.

HALIFAX AGENT FACES CHARGE

HALIFAX (CP)—Col. A. N. Jones, shipping agent here and member of a distinguished Halifax family, pleaded not guilty before Magistrate R. J. Flinn yesterday to a charge of transmitting shipping information to the United States in violation of the Defence of Canada Regulations.

In camera, evidence for the prosecution was completed and the trial was adjourned a week after the defence moved for dismissal.

Col. Jones, an aide-de-camp to the Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia and a general staff officer here in the first Great War, is accused of telephoning to New York "information with respect to certain captains of ships, which ships formed part of a convoy on that date (August 16) proceeding to the sea from the port of Halifax."

The charge declares the information so transmitted was "that such captains were not with the said Jones and would not be with him any more. The person in New York was identified only as 'Capt. Mills.'"

Royal Canadian Mounted Police lodged the charge.

Col. Jones, 56, is the vice-president and managing director of Pickford & Black Limited, a firm of steamship agents.

He is a former vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and a former president of the Halifax Board of Trade.

Col. Jones' grandfather, Hon. A. G. Jones, was Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia from 1900 to 1906.

Port St. James is the original Hudson's Bay Trading Post on the foot of Stuart Lake in northern British Columbia.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward, wife of Lieutenant-Governor Woodward, will be sponsor of the freighter, which will be launched October 15 at the company's north shore yard here.

Not only will there be a day marine excursion from Victoria to Vancouver on Thanksgiving Day, but a special excursion will be operated by the C.P.R. from Vancouver to Victoria on the holiday.

Princess Victoria will bring a big load of Vancouverites here on Monday, arriving at 1.30 p.m. and sailing on the return trip at 5 p.m.

Princess Adelaide will handle the trip from this port to Vancouver.

ALEUTIAN SET TO SAIL NORTH

SEATTLE (AP)—The Alaska Steamship Company's liner Aleutian, whose departure for Alaska yesterday was held up by an intraunion dispute, was posted to sail today. Company officials said the vessels, loaded with supplies for national defence projects in the far north and with a passenger list made up largely of defence workers and their families, would sail if a full crew was aboard.

Yesterday's sailing was canceled when members of the Marine Cooks' and Stewards' Union refused to ship with a negro pantryman hired by the union business agent.

Union officials said new men would be assigned to the ship to replace those who refused to sign on.

Three weeks ago the steamer Baranof's departure from Seattle was delayed five days because members of the Firemen's Union objected to one of the cooks, a situation which was denounced by Rear-Admiral C. S. Freeman, commander of the 13th Naval District, who said a petty quarrel was obstructing the national defence effort.

WINNIPEG—August figures released by O. T. Larson, vice-president, Trans-Canada Airlines, continue to show airline traffic at high levels. There were 9,284 passengers carried, 84 more than in July. Air mail totaled 129,427 pounds, 184 pounds more than in July. Air express was 21,969 pounds, compared with 20,397 in July.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward To Launch Ship

VANCOUVER (CP)—The first steel freighter to be launched in British Columbia yards under the Dominion's wartime shipbuilding program will be named Fort St. James, Clarence Wallace, president of Burrard Drydock Company Limited, said today.

Port St. James is the original Hudson's Bay Trading Post on the foot of Stuart Lake in northern British Columbia.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward, wife of Lieutenant-Governor Woodward, will be sponsor of the freighter, which will be launched October 15 at the company's north shore yard here.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices slipped into a narrow groove today, following Tuesday's show of jitters as a result of the Russo-German war news.

Favored through most of the day's dealings were such share issues as United Airlines, American Airlines, Pan-American Airways, U.S. Steel, American Telephone, Sante Fe, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Goodrich, U.S. Rubber, Southern Railway and Douglas Aircraft. Dow Chemical rose sharply in thin dealings.

Union Carbide, Eastman Kodak and Johns Manville all showed a tendency to retreat easily, and were down major fractions to a point at times.

Canadian Pacific and Lake Shore mines advanced 1/4 point each.

People Found Honey Wasp Story Hard To Believe

One hundred and forty years ago there was a man in Spain who had a hard time making people believe him. His name was De Azara and he had been in South America working for the Spanish government. Spain then ruled much of the land in the New World.

"I spent 13 years in South America," said De Azara, "and helped to settle the limits of Paraguay. While I was doing that work I saw wasps which made honey."

Almost everyone to whom he told the story had something like this to reply:

"Honey from wasps. You must have made a mistake. You must have supposed that wild bees were the same as wasps. Wasps make paper, but not honey."

"No," replied De Azara, "I did not make a mistake. The insects I saw were wasps, not bees, and their nests contained honey."

The years passed and the poor Spaniard could find few persons who would take his word for what he had seen. Some declared he was not making a mistake but was saying something he knew was not true.

Then, at last, a package reached the British museum in London, a package which contained wasps' nests from South America. A scientist, Dr. Adam White, studied the combs in the nests, and found they held dry honey. He wrote about the fact in a magazine, and the good name of De Azara as a man of truth was brought back.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—My girl has to support her parents and she refuses to marry me until she can do it alone, although I am able and willing to assume that responsibility. She says her pride demands it, but I feel that it will be an endless waiting for her to get together that much money. Don't you think she is wrong?

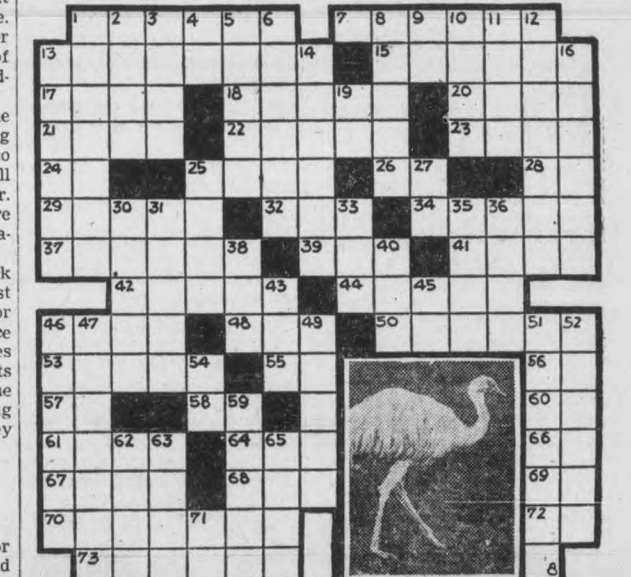

Answer: I certainly do. I think a girl who has a chance to marry a man who is generous enough and who loves her enough to be willing to assume her parents' support had better grab him while she can. Men like that are scarce as hen's teeth.

DEAR MISS DIX—I want the man I marry to love me for myself, my mind and soul, and not for my face. I want him to love me because my tastes agree with his, regardless of whether I am as beautiful as Diana or as hideous as Medusa. I want to be a pal to my husband. I want him to treat me as a business associate and forget that I am a woman and he a man. Is this asking too much; I like young men so long as they talk to me about their business, but I hate them when they fall in love with my pretty face and get jealous and act like spoiled children if I go out with anybody else.

Answer: Don't get discouraged, my dear, and don't undervalue your pretty face. You need that to attract men to you, so that your mind and your heart will have a chance to get in their work.

And don't be too hard on the men because the first thing they consider about a girl is her looks. Matrimony, at best, is trying and monotonous, and it is an awful thing to have to contemplate gazing at an unattractive individual for the next 30 or 40 years.

Saanich employees asked the municipal council recently for wage bonuses or salary increases for all. The matter was brought before a conciliation board presided over by James Thomson of the Department of Labor and the employees presented a list of present wages and desired increases. Representatives of the council at the conciliation meeting reported to the council in whole which turned down the employees' request.

Under the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act the matter is then taken before a board of arbitration provided the employees are in favor. The council and employees each appoint one arbitrator. A third is chosen by both parties.

As the result of a letter from J. H. Harman claiming $157 damages for a client from an accident on Darwin Road on August 27, which was referred to the insurance adjusters, a safety committee of employees will be organized to try and decrease the number of accidents involving municipal equipment.

A petition from residents of Cedar Hill asking for reopening of Kenmore Road, a short thoroughfare between Shelbourne Street and Cedar Hill Road, was laid on the table until cost of reopening the road was learned.

Temporary work will be done to relieve blocking of drainage from property at Lake Hill.

Lights at the terminus of the Mt. Tolmie and Cloverdale street car lines will be reconnected by the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., provided the municipality take the responsibility of turning them out in blackouts. This was agreeable to the council.

V. R. McNeill, 1441 Edgeware Road, was sold a lot at Cedar Hill Roads for $130.50.

Island Pipers

At the meeting of the Vancouver Island Pipers' Society, piping selections were given by Pipe Major Gandy and Pipers Low and Munro, a trio from the Military School of Piping. Much credit is due to these young student pipers for the splendid progress they have been making.

Other pipers who took part in the program were: John Low Sr., Capt. C. R. Wilson, Donald MacLean and Donald Cameron.

John Reid danced the Highland Fling and the Sword Dance in excellent form.

A recitation given by Capt. R. W. McMurray, R.N.R., was much appreciated.

An important item on the program was a lecture by Sergt. A. J. Allnutt of Esquimalt on "Highland Dress and How to Wear It." The next meeting of the society will be on the first Saturday in November.
